

FLEET AGAIN AT SEA GOING TO LOS ANGELES

NEITHER "GUM SHOE" BURNS NOR RUDOLPH SPRECKELS ARE ON HAND TO DIRECT THE FORD CASE

Only One Vacancy to Fill in the Jury Box at the Opening of Case---
Talesman Hussey, an Old Member of Carmen's Union, Called, but He Had No Feeling Against the Road at All, He Declared.

(SPECIAL TO THE TRIBUNE.)
SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—The prosecution in the case of the Ford case was held this morning by the defense's peremptory challenge on the attempt to get on the jury in the Ford case J. H. Hussey of 11 Hoffman avenue, a discharged conductor on the Hayes street car line of the United Railroads, who had a feeling against that company because of the discharge and who also had an opinion in the case on trial.
Hussey admitted that he did not have a kindly feeling for the company after his services had been dispensed with. He also declared he had an opinion as a consequence of his reading the papers on the subject.
The prosecution wanted to retain Hussey on the jury against the challenge for bias by the defense, which challenge was disallowed by the court.
Two Challenges Left.
Council for the defendant were then compelled to peremptorily challenge Hussey. Had the talesman been selected he would have been the twelfth man and would have completed the jury. The defense still has two peremptory challenges left.
The case at noon was continued until Monday next at 10 o'clock.
There was a delay of several minutes in the opening of the trial of Tires L. Ford, owing to the absence of the defendant, who was detained on the road by a temporary shutting off of power on the electric car line on which he was traveling from his home. He had been preceded in the court by Patrick Calhoun and all his own counsel, Messrs. A. A. Moore, Stanley, W. M. Abbott and Lewis F. Byington.
Assistant District Attorney O'Garra alone sat at the table of the prosecution. Detectives Burns and Rudolph Spreckels being conspicuous by their absence. O'Garra, however, did not seem disconcerted.

ed because of the failure to appear of the chief sleuth and the man with the dough.
An Old Conductor.
There remained but one juror to be selected to complete the jury and for the purpose of securing him thirty-five talesmen had been summoned. The first of these examined was J. A. Hussey of 11 Hoffman avenue.
Hussey said that at times he had one and at others another opinion on the subject. At the present time he had no opinion in the matter. He was asked if he knew a number of people who were supposed to be interested in the defendant, but Hussey declared the only one of them with whom he was acquainted was Dr. Coffey, surgeon of the United Railroads. The doctor, he said, had performed an operation on him. It was later developed that he had served as a conductor for twenty-two months on the Hayes street car line. He had been friendly with the railroad company while he was in the employ, but that was not the case after he had separated from the company. At the same time, he said, he could give the defendant a fair trial.
Also a Union Man.
This information was brought out by O'Garra. The cross-examination was conducted by Stanley Moore.
"Were you," he asked, "a member of the carmen's union?"
"Yes."
"You still belong to it?"
"No; I got a withdrawal when I left the company."
"Did you think the carmen right in their last strike?"
"I did not think them right in the last strike."
"Did you think the company was right?"

"I thought it was right in some things and not in other things."
"On the whole you had no prejudice or opinion in the matter."

UNIONS RESTRAINED FROM BOYCOTTING LUMBER MILL

Courts Are Asked to Stop Picketing

The Pacific Coast Lumber and Mill Company, located at Second and Grove streets, obtained an order from Superior Judge Melvin this morning, restraining the Building Trades Council of Alameda county, District Council Brotherhood of Carpenters, Millmen's Union Local 530, Material Teamsters' Local 57, and the Lumber Handlers' Local 235, from picketing in front of its mill and from boycotting its business. Judge Melvin ordered the defendants to appear in court on April 24 and show cause why a permanent injunction should be issued, restraining them from boycotting the plaintiff.
The company alleges in its complaint that on April 11, 125 employees were called out on strike by the defendants in the present action and that a boycott has been called against it, damaging it to the amount of $3000. The plaintiff claims that the strike was called because it refused to allow an order in its employ and the foreman of its sash and door department, who is a stockholder in the company, to join the unions.
Claims Violence.
The plaintiff claims that an open shop was declared and that every attempt to fill the places of the strikers had been fought by the unions and that the new men have been intimidated by threats of violence. It is also alleged that J. J. Eouvera attempted to take a load of lumber out of the company's yards and that he was followed by pickets and cursed and called son of a bitch and that the woman who owned the place where he delivered the lumber was told that if she accepted it, the unions would put her husband out of business.

By the agreement of the Building Trades Council, carpenters at work on the building at Thirteenth avenue and East Twelfth street, will be permitted to use non-union made lumber on the job. The action was taken in the case of the Pacific Lumber and Mill Company, recently declared "unfair" by the council. The reason given for this concession is that the order for the lumber was given last month while the company was operating on a union shop basis and that any disagreement at this time would result seriously for all concerned in the matter.

RECEIVERSHIP FOR ONE OF OHIO'S BROKERAGE GIANTS

Action Was Taken to Protect the Company

CINCINNATI, April 18.—Application for the appointment of a receiver for the Odell Brokerage Company, one of the largest concerns of the kind in the country, was made in the State Circuit Court here today by attorneys representing the company.
Rumors of recent difficulties have been current locally for several days, but the company was declared to be in good shape except for one or two large deals still unsettled at the time of the last reorganization of the concern. Today's action was in the interest of the company for the protection of business.

OLD MAN, OUT OF WORK AND HOMELESS, KILLS HIMSELF

Writes Note and Then Commits Suicide

ALAMEDA, April 18.—Andrew Younker, 75, found in the Taylor tract at Eighth street and Central avenue late yesterday afternoon by shooting himself in the head. His body was discovered by W. M. Donzelman of 1015 Taylor avenue, whose attention was attracted by the reports of four pistol shots. In one of the pockets of the man's coat was found an unsigned note, reading: "Old and infirm. No work, no means, no home, dependent and alone."
Cards showing that the man had advertised for work in THE TRIBUNE on April 12, and also in a San Francisco paper were among the effects in the pocket. There was an empty envelope showing the address, Mrs. A. Younker, 1703 Telegraph avenue, Oakland, and another showing the address of Mrs. J. A. Armes, 1132 Adeline street, Oakland.

IS ANNAGOULD MARRIED?

Princess De Sagan, if Report Is True, and 2 Children

PRINCE DE SAGAN.

French Paper Reiterates Its Story of Secret Wedding; Marriage Can Be Broken, It Adds.

PARIS, April 18.—The Côté de Paris, which professes to chronicle the doings of the fashionable set in Paris, insists in its issue of today that the marriage of Mme. Gould, formerly the wife of Count Doni De Castellane, and Prince Helle De Sagan has already taken place. The paper announced some time ago that the marriage had been celebrated secretly in Germany. Today it says: "We are now in a position to complete our information. This marriage was celebrated secretly in a little town on our eastern frontier. When in New York Mme. Gould informed her family that her wedding already was an accomplished fact and this is why the members of her family so quickly assented. We would add that for certain legal reasons, which delay prevents us from divulging, this marriage can be broken. This possibly greatly consoles the families which have been so crushed by the marriage, but we hope that they will not by any rude process trouble the happiness of the young couple, who during their sojourn in New York, were so much together."
Continuing, the paper adds that Mme. Gould has resolved irrevocably to break with the past. She is selling out her celebrated wine cellar, a merchant of Bordeaux having already purchased $16,000 worth of her stock.

FLEET FUND YET LACKS $12,000

Finance Committee Makes Appeal to Citizens of Oakland to Contribute Toward Entertainment of Evans' Men.

The necessity for funds with which properly to entertain the fleet is growing daily and with all the effort that has been made, less than $8000 has been subscribed to date. It is absolutely necessary that an amount approximating $20,000 be raised, declare those in charge, if the program of the fleet committee is to be carried out. San Diego, Los Angeles and Santa Cruz have experienced the same difficulty in raising money that is being met with in Oakland.
Oakland has suffered less than any other city on the coast from financial conditions and the committee feels that this city should, on account of its importance and because it will be one of the headquarters of the fleet, contribute the necessary sum during the next week.
Expect to Raise Money.
"We are making every possible effort to get the money," said A. Jonas of the finance committee, "but it is a hard matter. There are good reasons why our people cannot pass out money freely, but at the same time it does seem that with such an immense population and such a wealthy city as Oakland, we ought to have no more than ordinary difficulty in raising $20,000. This event is one of remarkable importance. Figure it out how you will, we cannot see how it will not result in leaving half a million dollars in Oakland alone and that is surely worth all the expenditure that we anticipate."
Dr. George C. Pardon, chairman of the executive committee, confidently believes that when the urgent necessity for the money for entertaining the fleet is sufficiently appreciated, there will be but little difficulty in obtaining the desired amount.

THOUSANDS GATHER TO SEE SHIPS PASS

Shore From San Diego to Los Angeles Lined With People to Watch Fleet on Cruise.

Transportation Companies Taxed to Utmost to Carry Vast Crowds From Interior to Beach.

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon the battleship fleet was reported in plain sight from Newport Beach, where nearly 20,000 people were gathered to watch its passage.

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—Clear and warm and beautiful dawned the day fixed for the arrival of the Atlantic battleship fleet at San Pedro bay, the gateway to the most populous section of Southern California, and the gathering place for over 100,000 people eager to participate in their first greeting to the white squadron of Rear Admirals Evans and Thomas.
Never in its history has Los Angeles risen with such enthusiasm in observance of a celebration, patriotic or otherwise. Without legal declaration, but by general consent, business has been dropped with the tasks of the day but just begun, and the entire population seems to be streaming towards the coast.

50,000 Flock to Beach

Hours before they could hope to catch sight of the first smoke from the funnels of the warships, 50,000 people were on their way to Huntington Beach, Long Beach, San Pedro, Newport and a dozen towns and villages on the ocean shore where they might observe the stately procession of battleships on its way to the anchorage ground. By 9 o'clock this morning, the transportation companies were forced to employ the extra equipment reserved for the rush hours and with steadily increasing crowds assembled.

Change in Orders Will Let Fleet Be at Full Anchor by 2 O'clock

IT VA A POINT RAISED BY THE TRIBUNE

It will be very welcome news for Oakland people and the many thousands in the country surrounding Oakland to know that the big fleet will be at its anchorage in the San Francisco bay at 2 o'clock in the afternoon on the day of its arrival, May 6. This morning the Associated Press dispatches contain an official announcement by Admiral Thomas of the fleet's itinerary after leaving San Diego. In this announcement the admiral fixes the time for the arrival of the fleet outside the lighthouse in San Francisco bay on the evening of May 5. He also orders the sailing through the Golden Gate on May 6 at a time which will make it possible for all of the ships to be at their anchorages by 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

This is the change in the time which was advocated by THE TRIBUNE a few days ago. It will obviate all the possibilities of the many thousands of the sight-seers from around Oakland being left at a late hour to seek transportation from the water front to their homes. As stated then, and as an answer possibly to some of the criticisms raised by the San Francisco papers to this matter, San Francisco is not in a condition just now to provide shelter for the thousands who would be left should the fleet be delayed until after 4 o'clock in making the anchorage.

DESTITUTE CONSUMPTIVE IS STARVING TO DEATH Neighbor "Knocks" Associated Charities

Down a 763 Seventh street Crispin Nava, a little Mexican female maker, is gradually starving to death. He has consumption and so badly has the disease ravaged his body that the man is hardly able to speak ten words without becoming exhausted. He lives in a broken old house on the proceeds of his spouse's scant earnings at the wash tub.

With his furniture nearly all sold in an effort to provide nourishment, and with his savings taken from him by a physician who holds out hopes of recovery, the poor man is now awaiting death's final call. Were it not for the help given by sympathetic neighbors, the wretched creature probably be with "the great majority."

Big Salaries for Workers.

Mrs. E. P. Kowalsky of 866 Market street has interested herself in this case and has succeeded in eliciting the aid of a few of her friends, too. But they think that this work of helping the poor belongs rather to the province of the Associated Charities. And in expressing an opinion this morning to THE TRIBUNE, the woman said that the charitable organization seems to be in existence solely for the purpose of affording opportunity to its officers to draw big salaries.

NO EXCLUSION LAW THIS YEAR McKinlay Says Bill Will Not Be Brought Up Till Next Session.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Representative McKinlay announced that the Senators and Representatives from California have determined not to press a bill for Japanese exclusion after a talk with the President. He declared that the bill would be taken up at the beginning of the next session and pressed to a vote.

"And then watch out," he said. "The Japanese will want legislation of this kind and I presume we will have to get busy."

"I think it is true that few Japanese are coming to the United States now. So long as the Japanese government keeps them out the feeling in the West will be a relief."

When the gates are opened and immigration starts there will be a revival of the bitter feeling. This will be followed by exclusion legislation by Congress and McKinlay says the President is continuing negotiations with the Japanese on this subject and that one reason legislation is not pressed is that the administration had declared that no negotiators now under way between the State Department and the Japanese foreign office.

COUNTY CLERK NOT AT FAULT

Falsely Accused by Paper Trying to Get Work Done for Nothing.

County Clerk Cook was accused by the Oakland Times of refusing to give that paper the calendars of the various departments of the Superior Court, so that they might be published in that paper. The reason that the Times is so anxious to get these calendars, which are public records and can be obtained by any one who desires to get them, is shown in the following self-explanatory letter:

Oakland, Cal., March 18, 1908.

To the Clerk, Superior Court No. 2, Oakland.

Dear Sir: After today the free list of the Oakland Times will be entirely suspended with the exception of one copy for each clerk.

If the attorneys ask for same then that Times will be delivered to them in any part of Oakland by carrier at the subscription price of 25 cents per month. Trusting you will do what you can for us, we remain,

Yours truly,

(Signed) ALBERT ELLIS, Circulating Manager.

The clerks of the various departments were accustomed to write out the calendars for the Times each week, but the work became so heavy in the departments that they could not write these calendars for the paper. The Times then attacked County Clerk Cook and stated that he was holding out the records.

WAIT ALLEGED BIGAMISTS RETURN WITH PISTOLS

Father and Brother-in-Laws Await Gibson at San Jose.

SAN JOSE, April 13.—When Alfred L. Gibson, arrested in Los Angeles on a charge of bigamy, returns to San Jose, a warm reception will be ready for him. His wife, Grace Murray, whom Gibson took as wife No. 2, also wife No. 1, formerly Mrs. Eugene Skovine of Watsonville, and her father, J. R. Norton of Oregon, will be waiting for him at the depot, all vowing vengeance.

It is reported that G. A. Murray, father of the girl-bride, has threatened to shoot Gibson on sight, while others are endeavoring to make things very unpleasant for him.

Gibson was first married in Santa Cruz, September 12, 1903, to Mrs. Skovine. Three weeks ago Gibson advised his wife to visit her family in the north. Immediately after her departure he married Grace Murray of San Jose, and left for Los Angeles the next day. He was arrested there while dining with his wife No. 2, on a warrant sworn to by his alleged legal wife.

Mrs. Gibson No. 2 disappeared immediately after Gibson's arrest.

NEW YORK, April 13.—That Richard Croker is likely never to abandon Wantage farm, and return to American and political life, again has been suggested by Henry Lee, the impersonator who returned yesterday from the Muretarla.

Lee was a recent visitor to the Croker estate and says Croker is in good health and seems very happy with his horses.

Fight for Big Navy Will Go Right On

WASHINGTON, April 13.—"The fight for a big navy will go right on," said Representative Richmond P. Hobson of Alabama, after an interview with the President yesterday. "No battle has ever won or lost on the skirmish line; we have only just begun. If John Sharp Williams had not made the statement yesterday in the house there would have been many more Democratic votes in favor of our battleships. The question of a navy is broader than the party."

Referee Favors Vanderbilt Divorce

NEW YORK, April 13.—The report of Referee David McGuire, who heard the evidence in the suit of Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt for divorce is expected to be filed with the Supreme Court on Monday. It is believed that the granting of a divorce will be recommended by the referee, while the report will have been confirmed or disapproved by a Justice of the Supreme Court.

feeling for Patrick Calhoun growing out of that strike?"

"No."

Challenged by Moore.

Moore was submitted to a lengthy examination and was finally challenged by Stanley Moore. O'Gara denied the challenge. Moore had succeeded in getting from Husey a statement to the effect that he would require evidence to convince him that money had not passed to the supervisors. O'Gara re-examined and Husey stated that he had no bias in the case, and he could give the defendant a fair trial. Moore again took the taleman in hand and drew from him the statement that his opinion in the case would remain until evidence to the contrary was introduced.

A. A. Moore argued in support of the challenge, claiming that the taleman would require less evidence to be convinced that the act of bribery had been committed than would a man who had never formed an opinion on the subject.

HINTS AT JURY TAMPERING MADE IN THE FORD TRIAL

Prospective Jurors Declare Opposition to Prosecution.

At the Ford trial yesterday afternoon William Dohmann of 36 Tiffany avenue said he could give the defendant a fair trial and was passed by the prosecution. Before the passing, however, the taleman in response to O'Gara's questions, said that on Saturday he had a man whom he did not know had called on him and asked on what side he was in that controversy. He also said that the stranger questioned him about the Ruel and Ford trials. Dohmann declared that, at the time, he had not heard of the Ford trial. In cross-examination Stanley Moore, by his questions, created the impression that the man who had called upon Dohmann was an attaché of the graft prosecution.

"What kind of a looking man, if you can describe him, was this man who called upon you?" asked Moore.

"He had dark eyes, was smooth shaven, about six feet high, of dark complexion and had dark hair."

"How old was he?"

"About 45 years."

Didn't Know Detective.

"Do you know J. F. McCarthy, a detective in the employ of W. J. Burns, the man who is at the head of the alleged graft prosecution detectives?"

"I don't know him."

Dohmann was passed by both sides.

His passing put twelve men in the box, eight of whom had been sworn as jurors. Four were thus subject to peremptory challenge.

The court said that it was the turn of the defense to exercise peremptory challenges, and accordingly Edward W. Putnam of 2391 Filbert street was excused.

The prosecution on yesterday had exhausted all its peremptories.

Stanley Moore then stated that the defense was satisfied with the other three talemen and accordingly J. J. Murphy, a carpenter at 2847 California street; William Dohmann of 38 Tiffany avenue and P. J. Leonard were sworn as jurors.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

The Economy of It

"ONE HUNDRED DOSES ONE DOLLAR"

The Success that has been won by Hood's Sarsaparilla is well known. It is the standard remedy of the world for all blood diseases, humors and eruptions; and as a general tonic, appetite-restorer and kidney and liver specific, we doubt if its equal has ever been made.

But there is no feature of Hood's Sarsaparilla of which we are more proud than we are of its practical economy.

A Bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses, and will average to last a month, while other prescriptions and medicines will last but a week or fortnight. Thus the argument for the great economy of Hood's Sarsaparilla is unanswerable.

As a Spring Medicine—just now—it is the best medicine you can possibly take. This is a strong statement, but we can prove it a thousand times over. It is perfectly safe, pure, genuine and reliable.

MRS. FRANK GOULD ASKS FREEDOM FROM COURT

Young Multi-Millionaire Charged With Extreme Cruelty and Neglect.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Mrs. Frank J. Gould has filed suit for separation from her young multi-millionaire husband in the Supreme Court.

Papers in the case were served on Frank Gould in the Hotel Plaza.

Gould has filed no counter-suit and so far as can be learned he doesn't contemplate any action, says in the nature of a vigorous defense.

The nature of the cruelty and neglect charges against Gould has not been yet made public.

It is learned that the husband's extreme jealousy is at the bottom of the difficulty.

His wife's beauty makes her the center of attraction wherever she appears, and the galleries of which she has been made the object have resulted in so many quarrels between the young couple that the wife has finally decided to conserve her peace of mind by seeking a legal separation.

In an interview Gould gave last night while on a train bound for Hot Springs, there is held out a strong possibility that a reconciliation, for which Mrs. Edward Kelly (mother of Mrs. Gould) is working, may be brought about.

"Curse of Money."

There is a note of remorse, of a conflict with adversity, the "curse of wealth," to use his own phrase in the agitated remarks which the young man made.

"A fellow can have a good wife," he cried, "beautiful children, money and all that, and still that chap can be cursed—hardly unhappy. It's hardly fair now, is it? I need a change and then I want to escape all this," pointing to a heap of newspapers by his side.

"But the fact was against you."

"Not that; no, not that. If I had been a poor chap I could have escaped it all. It is another curse of money," and the young millionaire disconsolately buried his face in his hands.

Mrs. Edward Kelly, the mother-in-law, said: "A nasty, lying piece of gossip caused it all. Mr. Gould is jealous and my daughter is foolish. But the children are lovers for all that; still lovers, and besides they are greatly attached to their children. They will come together again."

Fleet Steaming Up Coast at Rate of 12 Knots an Hour

LOMA, VIA SAN DIEGO, April 18.—Fleet of warships in single column, Connecticut leading, is steaming at the rate of twelve knots an hour, fast-ton Roads. Hundreds of people line the shore at various towns. From 6 till 11 a. m. the speed of the ships was ten knots per hour. This was increased to twelve at noon when opposite San Juan Point. The passenger train from San Diego passed up coast for an hour in full view of fleet.

Dr. Pinkham Has Narrow Car Escape

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—Dr. Charles B. Pinkham, former chief surgeon in charge of the emergency hospitals of San Francisco, narrowly escaped death this morning while boarding a car on the Sutter street line.

With his left foot caught under one of the brake shoes on the front truck, Dr. Pinkham was dragged for a distance of twenty-five feet and painfully injured before the car, the big brakes of which were working badly, was brought to a stop.

INDEPENDENCE, Kas., April 18.—A heavy wind storm of cyclonic dimensions, accompanied by hail and followed by a down-pour of rain, caused much damage on the outskirts of Independence early today. The Osage glass factory was unroofed, small buildings in the southwestern part of town were lifted from foundations, and deposited in the streets. Trees were uprooted and other minor damage done. No one is seriously injured.

BROKER DECLARED FUGITIVE FROM JUSTICE

Police Throughout State Notified of Embezzlement Charge Against R. Harry Smith.

R. Harry Smith, formerly a mining broker with offices in the Globe Hotel, Thirteenth street and Broadway and one of the most widely known men in Oakland, is now declared to be a fugitive from justice and a warrant charging him with embezzlement has been issued for his arrest on complaint of Fred E. Sparks of 1381 Park street, Alameda. Outside cities and towns have been notified of the facts of the case and of officials throughout the State have been instructed to arrest Smith and hold him on the warrant in the hands of the local police department.

Sparks alleges that Smith embezzled ten shares of the La Zia Cawalt Rubber stock valued at $3500, which had been given to Smith for disposal and which he is alleged to have put to his own uses.

Other Complaints.

There are a number of other complaints pending against Smith. E. W. Mowry of this city alleging that Smith defrauded him out of $250 in a mining deal. Mowry, who has not as yet sworn to a complaint, has informed the police that Smith had sold him for $2000, a half interest in a mining claim in the Manhattan district and had advanced Smith $500 for development work on the claim. Mowry later learned, he alleges, that no work was done on the claim which in fact consisted only of a barren rock heap in the deserts of Nevada.

Smith had a large circle of friends who are surprised at the startling charges made against him. He suddenly left this city some days ago and all efforts to locate him have proved unavailing. His wife was held in high esteem in Oakland. She has returned to the home of her parents in Eureka, where she has instituted suit for divorce. She left her husband last December, some weeks before the charges against Smith became public property.

GRAND JURY IS TO RE-CONVENE

Inquisitors Will Resume Investigation of Street Department.

The grand jury will reconvene next Wednesday, when it will continue its investigation of the street department of this city.

O. C. Hyatt of 1117 Willow street, City Attorney McElroy and O. M. Bennett of Berkeley have been subpoenaed to appear before the inquisitors.

The investigation is being made at the instance of Harry Morse of East Oakland, who alleges that the superintendent of streets has been grossly negligent in allowing the public utilities corporations to dig up the streets and not repair them in accordance with law.

'You Will Need Them Some Day,' Wires Evans of Battleship Crews

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—The one note of regret in all the harmony of joyous preparation is due to the enforced absence of Rear Admiral Evans, the reason for which is so thoroughly appreciated that wishes are expressed on every hand that the week he would otherwise have spent in Los Angeles will complete his recovery at Paso Robles. The following telegram was received from him today:

"It is the great regret of my life that I cannot be with the officers and men of the splendid Atlantic fleet to enjoy the hospitality of the people of Los Angeles so plentifully bestowed.

"Be good to these officers and men; they are all wool and a yard wide, and prepared to prove that California is as much a part of the United States as New York or New England. You will need them some day and I predict that they will be ready at the drop of the hat either for a fight or for a frolic.

"God bless them all. Thank the people of Los Angeles for all their courtesies and good wishes.

(Signed) "Evans."

TELLS POLICE FIENDISH HUSBAND THREATENS DEATH

Is Demon Under Morphine's Influence

Terrified by her husband, Arthur R. Ingram, an iron moulder in the employ of the White Ornamental Iron Works in East Oakland, who, it is reported to the police, while under the influence of opium, compelled her to take off all of her clothes and then pursued her with a knife in his hand, yelling "I'll kill you!" Mrs. Anna Ingram, his seventeen-year-old bride of five months, escaped from a second story balcony of her home, 1014 Seventh avenue last night, and sustained painful injuries.

In company with Miss Lucile Thielman, a girl friend living in the same house, Mrs. Ingram escaped in a kimono which the latter brought to her, and sought refuge in the home of her father, M. Johnson, an iron moulder living in Alameda.

This morning Mrs. Ingram swore to a complaint for which a warrant was issued for the arrest of her husband on a charge of assault and battery. And she says she intends to apply for a divorce later.

Miss Lucile Thielman said this morning: "He is many years older than she, and he has been a 'dope fiend' for years, although she didn't realize how strong a hold it had on him until last night. He is in the habit of

TAKES LINIMENT FOR MEDICINE

W. T. Barrie Swallows Heavy Dose of Belladonna; Runs to Hospital; Saved.

W. T. Barrie, a carpenter, residing in East Oakland, had a narrow escape from death this morning when he took a heavy dose of belladonna liniment, thinking it was a dose of medicine.

Barrie went to the receiving hospital and when he arrived here became unconscious. The stomach pump was applied and restoratives given and it is thought that Barrie will recover.

Barrie arose at an early hour this morning and reaching up on a shelf secured a bottle which he thought contained liniment he had been taking. He got the liniment bottle instead and took a heavy dose. He did not notice his mistake until he was racked with pain and he ran to the hospital.

MONTEREY COAL COMPANY'S MINES SHOW IMMENSE DEPOSITS OF A.1 COAL

Samples Just Taken From the Various Veins Prove to Be a Splendid Variety of Bituminous Coal.

H. W. Turner, Formerly for Eighteen Years With the U. S. Geological Survey, Speaks Very Highly of the Property.

WM. IRELAN, JR., FORMERLY STATE MINERALOGIST AND STATE ENGINEER, SAYS THE COMPANY HAS ALL IT CLAIMS AND MORE.

From the latest reports on the coal taken from the mines of the Monterey Coal Company it is evident that California is to have developed another great industry within its borders; and one, the product of which is more sorely needed than any other of her varied resources.

MONTEREY COAL COMPANY

Following are analyses of various samples of coal taken from the mines:

1. Samples from Trafton mine by H. W. Turner, taken at a depth of 70 feet and 110 feet. The average is as follows:

Analysis by George A. James Co.
Monterey Coal Company's coal, April 13, 1908.
Moisture 12.92
Volatile matter 33.26
Fixed carbon 40.72
Sulphur 3.5
Ash 9.6

2. Analysis by Smith, Emery & Co.
Monterey Coal Company's coal, April 16, 1908.
Samples by H. W. Turner from same location, as above.

4. Samples by J. D. Hoff, M. E.
Analysis by George A. James Co.
Monterey Coal Company's coal, April 3, 1908.

Selected sample, air dried.

Sulphur 3.10
99.89 per cent.

Professor Turner calls attention to the fact that the various tests thus far made do not adequately represent or do justice to the quality of the coal in these fields, because of lack of development of the various veins, the samples having been taken from near the surface. He states there is no question but that the coal will become firmer and better as the depth is increased. This is proved in many instances of coal mining, the following being a good example:

A Matter of Money.

It is stated by Lincoln Steffens, on the authority of Burns, that James L. Gallagher, the "Big Jim" of the boodling Board of Supervisors, was paid a $1000 bribe by G. M. Roy to vote against the skating rink ordinance. The money was furnished by Rudolph Spreckels and the bribe was paid at the instigation of Burns. On the witness stand in the two Ford trials Gallagher made no mention of the $1000 bribe he received from Roy. Under cross-examination he gave a detailed account of the various bribes he had received, but this thousand dollars was not included in the list. He had $35,000 bribe money deposited in the bank, but could only account for $25,000. For $10,000 he failed utterly to account. In "Burns, the Intriguer," printed in the American Magazine for April, Steffens, on the authority of Burns, tells of $1000 that Gallagher received and failed to account for.

Why did Gallagher conceal from the court and jury the fact that he had received this money? Why did the prosecution permit him to conceal the fact, and give false testimony in regard to his criminal operations? Was it because he had been bribed with Spreckels' money at Spreckels' instigation? Or did the prosecution shrink from revealing their financial dealings with the commissioner of the boodling ring?

Gallagher obviously lied when he made an alleged accounting of the bribe money he had received. If he lied in that particular in how many other particulars did he swear falsely? On one occasion he changed his testimony in an important particular, after having had his memory refreshed by conversations with Burns and Heney. Why was not his memory refreshed in this particular?

It is recorded by Steffens that Gallagher became the agent of the prosecution immediately after the alleged trapping of Loneragan, Boston and Coffey by Roy. He then undertook the task of bringing his fellow boodlers into the Spreckels-Heney-Burns fold on a complete immunity basis. He had $1000 of Spreckels' money in his pocket then, if Steffens tells the truth. How much more did he have? He had not been trapped. Why, then, did he so readily become a commissioner from Spreckels to negotiate the immunity deal with his brother scoundrels? In agreeing upon the terms of the Treaty of the Presidio (concluded, as was fit, in darkness on the U. S. military reservation) "Gallagher behaved well." That is, Steffens so reports Spreckels as saying. He took his immunity and his orders, kept his thousand dollars and has been a "good dog" ever since! Heney apparently has a vile opinion of dogs.

Says the Springfield (Mass.) Republican: "Following closely the announcement that the first Buddhist church edifice in America was about to be erected at Seattle comes the news that San Francisco is soon to be favored with America's first Hindu temple. Can this be called the backwash of paganism upon Christian America?"

The question is superfluous, for it takes its inspiration from ignorance (or ignoring) of facts. The Buddhist temple at Seattle and the Hindu temple in San Francisco, like the Chinese joss houses scattered all over the Pacific Coast, are merely evidence of non-assimilable groups of Asiatic pagans, who cling to the rites and creeds to which they were bred in their own land. There are no Buddhists and Hindus among the whites of the Pacific States. Occasionally there is found a white person claiming to be a Hindu or Mohammedan, but all such may be safely set down as fakers and pretenders. They have adopted some strange creed, not from religious conviction, but to further some personal design.

A Word About a Native Son.

The death of William H. De Vries, an aged and highly respected citizen of Stockton, recalls to the memory of the California public a man who served two terms in Congress with distinction to himself and State, and to the credit of the Democratic party. We allude to Hon. Marion De Vries, who was twice elected in the Sacramento district by overwhelming majorities, and who abandoned a most promising congressional career to accept the position of president of the National Board of Appraisers. Although sitting on the minority side of the House, Mr. De Vries developed into an influential member during his first term, and had he not left Congress at the close of his second term would have become one of the floor leaders of his party. Combined with ability and tact, he possessed an aptitude for debate and a ready grasp of essentials. Always fair, tolerant and courteous, he won the respect and personal good will of the Republican leaders, and thereby was enabled to signally serve his constituents as a minority representative. As head of the National Board of Appraisers, a position he received at the hands of President McKinley, he has fully justified the confidence reposed in him. It is a pleasure to record that this native son of California has played so useful and conspicuous a part in the public affairs of his country, and is still honored by men of all parties. Mr. De Vries has exemplified in his conduct and career the fact that political differences should not make men personal enemies and that debate should be on a plane above detraction and black villainy. Firm in his convictions and frank in asserting them, he never resorted to ungenerous imputations nor personal attack. Hence his success had in it no alloy of injustice and ill-will, which is testimony that a man may be an influential factor in politics and remain always the well-bred gentleman. His calm, cool temperament was an heritage from his sturdy Dutch ancestry, while the fine courtesy of the Old South graced his manners and gave his bearing a pleasing urbanity. A sketch of his father's life gives one an insight into the spring of the son's character and success. He sprang from a sound root and a clean, thrifty stock, and was bred in an environment that fostered and developed character. In Mr. De Vries the East has been presented with a fine type of Californian.

PUNCTUATION.

Writing on "The Small College vs. the University," the latest Saturday Evening Post says: "Both Knox and Beloit face a future grave with uncertainty." We should think they would.

THE OBSTACLE RACE

Terse Press Comment

THE NEGRO VOTE AND SECRETARY TAFT.

The negro race may obtain revenge by opposing Taft and throwing their vote to the Democratic party because of their anger at the actions of President Roosevelt in the Brownsville affair, but if a Democratic candidate is elected it is equally certain that the negroes need ask for no special favors from the Democrats.

It is admitted that the President was impetuous and probably hasty in his treatment of the negro soldiers in relation to the trouble at Brownsville, but it must be admitted that his action was not decided on the ground that they belonged to any particular race, but because in his haste he believed he was taking the right course. The members of the colored race who are thereby influenced to change their vote are unworthy to be American citizens or have the right of franchise. Their action shows that they hope the consideration of obtaining their votes will influence the administration of this country in its conduct of public affairs. It is another species of blackmail and intimidation. Instead of making enemies for the President the attitude of the negroes should win him friends, and lose the negroes sympathizers. When any class of people disregard the vital issues of national government in order to

DENIES THAT HE IS MAINTAINING NUISANCE

EDITOR TRIBUNE A letter was published Thursday and signed by Martin Knudson, in which a statement was made that I am maintaining a nuisance on my property at Piedmont and Rio Vista avenues.
This statement is absolutely false, has done me irreparable injury and I wish to have it corrected before it does me any more harm. I am maintaining no nuisance on my property and Dr. Long, the sanitary inspector, also claims there is none. I am a law-abiding citizen, have lived in this county thirty years, own $20,000 worth of property, have nine children and intend to remain here the rest of my life, and certainly therefore could not afford to maintain a nuisance. I am willing to have any sanitary inspector examine my premises.

CONGRESSMAN LILLEY AND HIS WHOLESALE CHARGES.

Congressman Lilley seems to be bent upon creating a scandal of immense proportions in the naval department. The fact that he has seemingly made good in regard to his accusations concerning the lobby methods of the submarine boat company gives his further charges a standing they would not otherwise have. It is possible that the statement that over $100,000,000 has been expended by the government without need may be true and certainly deserves investigation, but it does not follow that Lilley's conclusions, based upon that statement of extravagance, should be accepted as the right course to follow.

For instance, the abandonment of the Mare Island navy yard on the Pacific coast would be rank folly. If anything the saving should be made on the Atlantic coast, which has been favored both by the maintenance of government navy yards and the granting of contracts by the government to private shipyards which would aid in the support and maintenance of the latter. With the great fleet nearly always in the Atlantic, and the Pacific coast virtually unprotected, there is more apt to be an emergency arise which would prove the utility of a navy yard on this coast surpassing any of the Atlantic yards. Really the government should take steps to make Mare Island navy yard the largest and best maintained in the country.

Countess Edla Active in Affairs of Portuguese

One of the most popular and influential women in Portugal in these troublous times is the Countess of Edla, the morganatic widow of King Ferdinand, a great-niece of the present king. The countess is a former Boston woman, her name before marriage having been Elsie Hensler. Many years ago she was a successful opera singer, and her voice and her beauty, when she sang in Portugal, captured the king's heart. It was a very happy marriage, and the king was greatly devoted to his wife to the day of his death. Although she never occupied the throne with her husband, the countess was regarded by him and by all his subjects as a queen. For her wisdom and her benevolence she is still held in reverence by all the Portuguese, and she is said to be giving good counsel to the inexperienced young king. The countess has a fine palace near Lisbon and an attractive country home in Cintra, her wedding gift from Ferdinand. —Leslie's Weekly.

IS THE FATHER OF TWENTY CHILDREN

The Duke of Parma has the distinction of being the father of the largest royal family in Europe. He has twenty children, the eldest of whom is 35 and the youngest under 2 years old. He has been twice married. His first wife, Princess Marie Antonia of Bourbon-Sicily, was the mother of eight children, and the present Duchess — a princess of the house of Braganza — has no less than twelve. Of these twenty children eleven are daughters, only one of whom is married.

Daring Equestrian Feat Performed by American Woman

MRS. THOMPSON, AN AMERICAN RIDER, WHO HAS BEEN APPEARING AT THE CRYSTAL PALACE, LONDON. THE HORSE, WHICH SHE MANAGES WITHOUT A BRIDLE, IS STANDING ON ONE FOOT.

The above photograph shows Mrs. Thompson, an American equestrienne now in London, performing one of the most difficult horseback feats performed by a woman. As will be seen from the picture, the horse is standing on one foot and is without a bridle. To maintain one's poise in such a position it must necessarily be a severe test of physical endurance as well as the attendant nervous strain, and it is only the accord between the intelligent horse and its mistress that makes the performance possible.

MARRIED After 3000 Mile Journey to MIDDY

BALTIMORE, April 18.—After a journey of 14,000 miles around South America by the fiancée and a trip of more than 3,000 miles across the continent by the girl, Miss Nannie Norris, of Baltimore, and Midshipman Bruce R. Ware, Jr., were married at San Francisco recently. The bridegroom-to-be arrived at San Francisco on the cruiser Washington yesterday and the bride-to-be reached that city on the same day. Midshipman Ware was ordered to depart on the Washington just one week after the engagement was announced. He had expected to remain on the Atlantic coast. It was then too late to make arrangements for the wedding. The pair decided that they would be married as soon as he reached a port where he would remain a few days. All the time the Washington was making the long trip they were exchanging letters and perfecting their plans, which were carried out yesterday.

Whims of European Queens Regarding Their Dress

Reference has already been made, in these columns to the fact that Queen Amelie of Portugal is one of the best dressed queens in Europe, her taste being beyond reproach. Queen Helena of Italy, on the contrary, is somewhat apt to neglect good taste for extreme styles, although it must be confessed that she looks best in the smartest of costumes. Her Majesty does not confine herself to one dressmaker, but will visit half a dozen shops until she decides on what she wants. What is more she does not believe in paying exorbitant prices simply because she is a queen, and dressmakers and modistes say in a whisper that she knows how to drive a bargain. The Queen of Holland, too, likes gay clothes and is exceedingly fond of French styles. She will pay a good price for anything she fancies, and experience has taught the French dressmakers to show her only green, blue and white, and to turn on all the electric switches to see how the colors look by artificial light. —London Tit-Bits.

Little Maidens As Bridesmaids

There is a growing tendency at fashionable weddings to dispense altogether with grown-up bridesmaids and substitute two or three little maidens attended by boy cavaliers in willow-green silk court dress or simple green linen "Kate Greenaway" suits. The old superstition as to green at a wedding appears to be dying out.

$100,000 For Girls' School

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 18.—Archbishop Ryan announced recently that $100,000 had been given by a woman, "believed to be Mrs. Frederick Penfield, formerly Mrs. Anne Weightman-Walker, for the proposed Catholic high school for girls in this city. "The gift," said the archbishop, "assures to us the carrying out of the project. The school is to be built to commemorate the centennial of the diocese of Philadelphia." One hundred thousand dollars will not be sufficient to build and equip the school, but it is expected there will be other gifts. The amount deemed necessary is $500,000.

Vanderbilts Very Devoted Couple Last Summer

When Alfred Vanderbilt returned last summer from the International Horse Show his wife planned a surprise dinner for him at Newport, and at that dinner she gave him a very splendid present. Then the young couple appeared to be absolutely devoted and at a time when the newspapers were filled with stories about the Virginia woman who was in love with Vanderbilt's man Wilson, and who made a scene at the pier upon arrival here. Mrs. Vanderbilt was very enthusiastic, and much concerned lest her husband should discover something in advance about the present.

It may be denied here that the Virginia woman, Schenck, I believe, is her name, was engaged to drive or did drive any of Vanderbilt's horses in London. She never drove a smart harness in her life, and the tale was originated by some impetuous newspaper men. I have it an excellent authority that the newspaper stories made such an impression upon both Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt that they never even mentioned the subject either to each other or to Wilson. It was too ridiculous. The Schenck girl is an impetuous young thing, and in Norfolk she forced herself and her attentions upon Wilson, who is not made of steel, and who had a perfect right to have an affinity if he wanted one. It might be interesting, in passing up Miss Schenck, to add the rather exciting information that the only person closely identified with the International Horse Show who was really interested in her was Walter Winans. There is a cue for the American, which has been explaining the lady and her brooch and professing suit against Wilson. Winans gave her a beautiful diamond ornament.

Little Girl Prevents Jail Break

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., April 18.—Only by the prompt action of Verna Hanson, 8 years old, daughter of Sheriff Sylvester Hanson of Jackson county, was a big jail delivery prevented at the county jail in this city recently.

Grabs Jailbird by Legs.

The little girl sleeps in a room under the jail. She retired early but was restless and unable to go to sleep. Shortly before midnight she heard a noise. She rose and looked out of a window and saw a man coming down a ladder made of bed clothes.

Posse Returns Unsuccessful

Then, making their rope, they used it as a means of descending to the ground. A posse headed by Sheriff Hanson made a search of the country surrounding Murphysboro, but was unsuccessful. A guard was placed over the jail until repairs are made. The prison is built of stone and is among the strongest in southern Illinois.

WONDERFUL RECORD IS MADE BY STENOGRAPHER Writes Five Thousand Six Hundred Words in an Hour.

MISS ROSE FRITZ.

Five thousand six hundred and ninety words an hour! This is the world's record for a typewriter, held by Miss Rose Fritz, aged 19.

Miss Fritz is today perhaps the most remarkable typist in the world. Her record was made in 1907 and written to dictation. Miss Fritz began work as a typist at the meager salary of $6 a week. At the present time she is making more than most business or professional men. Not only is her work done rapidly but with remarkable neatness for such speed.

The Prince of Wales recently visited her and at his request she gave a demonstration of her ability, writing 115 words in a minute. The Prince was highly pleased at her performance and remarked on her skill with the keys.

Women's League HELPS Working Girls

NEW YORK, April 18.—The Women's Trade Union League in its annual report, made public recently, gives a resume of the work done in the three years of its existence.

Credit is given to Miss Annie C. Patterson for having originated the idea of an auxiliary committee which has done much to bring about better conditions for the working women. The report says:

"The committee under the strong leadership of Miss Patterson has worked faithfully and efficiently and gives an evening illustration of what volunteer work can be with faith and determination to back it. The purpose of the league was to inaugurate a systematic movement by the trade unions, and the league, through its auxiliary work, has made it possible to start a movement from organized labor itself to make the union label a new power. "Ever since the formation of this league it has been urged on the women the necessity of managing their own affairs and discouraging their dependence on their brothers. The women are now in entire control of their meetings and organizations. "During the last year the league was called upon to aid the strike of the winding girls of Clark's thread mills. It was given out by the mills that the price of thread had been increased from five to six cents because of the increase in wages. Some of the workers received the advance, but the cop-winners had waited more than a year for it to reach them after the increased price had been established in the market. "The cop-winners were refused the advance, whereupon the girls in that department went on strike. Every effort was made to bring pressure to bear not only on the superintendent, but on Mr. Clark, but our efforts were unavailing. Not a girl went back to work."

FOR YOU SWEETHEART FOR YOU

For you, sweetheart, for you, Who are so frail and wee, Let every day renew The toll it bringeth me, For all I dream, and all I do, Are just for you, sweetheart, for you.

For you, sweetheart of mine, I pass temptation by, And that wee hand of thine Has held my purpose high. Ah! I would stand erect and true As heritage, sweetheart, for you.

My small sweetheart, alack! If sometimes I may stray Your love shall lead me back Unto the better way. Oh, sweet to turn from paths of rue For love, sweetheart, for love of you!

All things of good, sweetheart, In you find birth for me. The hours we walk apart But lead me nearer thee. Oh, tangled locks and eyes of blue My sweetest song sings love of you. —Waterhouse's Paper.

WED To Regain Their Child

CHICAGO, April 18.—Julia Yenker, 9 years old, 41 Hobbs street, was released to the care of her parents recently by Judge Tuthill. The parents had been living together ten years and were arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct when it was learned they never had been married. They later were wedded by the Rev. V. Rapaze.

Jesse Carvin, 5 Whitting street, presented a petition asking that his four young children be placed in an institution where they would receive proper care. He declared his wife was not a proper person to care for them.

Mrs. Carvin replied that her husband had deserted her several months ago and had left the family in destitute circumstances. "I want you to go home and forget each other's faults," said the court, and the case was continued indefinitely, the children returning home with their parents.

Woman's Photo FOUND ON Battle Field Restored to Her After Half a Century

PATERSSON, N. J., April 18.—A daguerrotype of a young man and girl, taken from the body of a Union soldier on the battlefield of Chancellorsville during the Civil War, has been returned to the girl in the picture, Mrs. T. W. Stowe of Milford, Conn., after a search lasting forty-three years.

Edgar Whittier, a manufacturer, conducted the search for the owner of the picture. The daguerrotype came into the possession of Whittier through his wife. Mrs. Whittier's father, N. Barnes, who was a member of the Thirtieth New Jersey Volunteers, was captured during the war, and the daguerrotype was given to him by a Confederate soldier, who explained that the picture had been taken from a dead Union soldier at Chancellorsville.

Women's Play 'Time Is Money' Given to Aid Invalid Children

An unusually interesting woman is Lady Bell, whose amusing little play, "Time Is Money," was recently performed in London in aid of the Victoria Home for Invalid Children. Lady Bell is the daughter of a famous Anglo-French physician, Sir Joseph Ollivier, who flourished in the second empire. She therefore knows French as well as English and has written plays in French.

CUPID KEEPS THE CANAL ZONE FREE FROM OLD MAIDS

Helen Varick Boswell, who organized the clubs of the canal zone, says that there are no old maids there and that it is almost impossible to keep women who are unmarried in such position as that of hospital nurse. After losing seventeen nurses by matrimony, word was sent to the states that no young nurses would be accepted.

SAN FRANCISCO PROMOTERS WATCH FIGHTERS CLOSELY

Contestants in Coming Battles Are Well Guarded and Each Promoter Is Afraid to Announce Future Attractions.

BY EDDIE SMITH.

When a promoter in San Francisco signs a fighter of any prominence nowadays his troubles and worries just begin, for from then until ring time he is kept in a constant state of uneasiness for fear of the rival promoter who will grab his prize and sign him to what may be a more favorable set of articles.

Jack Gleason is now advertising that Joe Gans is to fight for his club during the month of May, but he has so far failed to announce who is to be the opponent. It would only seem reasonable to believe that Gleason must have some one up his sleeve or he would not be announcing that Gans would fight for him. Can it be that Jack has slipped one over to the rival promoter or is it that he is afraid to mention any names until such time as he is guaranteed by a good sized cash forfeit that the fighter will live up to the agreement?

Unholz Well Guarded.

Gleason is not alone in the matter of precaution. Oly Jim Coffroth has reason to believe that if it was found possible that his fighter Unholz, who is on his way here to meet Battling Nelson, would be stolen away from him he would be left without an opponent for the battle.

This fact has caused the promoter to send a man to Stockton to meet the little fellow, another to Point Richmond and Joe Thomas, who is Unholz' local manager, will also be at Richmond to guard the fighter against the agents of the enemy.

It has been many days since the fighter coming to San Francisco has been shown such consideration and unless Rudolph Unholz ever tumbles to the fact that he is being guarded for the protection of the promoter and not because he is the coming opponent for the Battler he may have reason to swell up a bit.

Sam Berger is just as quiet as a clam as to what he is to do about his next card and he, like Gleason, will not announce his attraction until he has a cash forfeit from both men.

Sullivan Making Weight.

Brooklyn Tommy Sullivan, who, with Abe Attell will supply the main attraction at Lake Mead's show the last day of the present month, has thirteen days in which to take off a little over five pounds of weight. Joe LeRoy, trainer-in-chief at the Sullivan camp, is of the opinion that the little fellow from St. Louis will be able to make the weight without the loss of his strength.

If Sullivan is able to make the weight, and LeRoy should know, for he has acted as trainer for the little fellow many times before, he will give Attell the time of his young life to beat him, for his past experience with the clever champion has made him extremely confident that he is the better man and for that reason he will enter the ring full of confidence that none of the fighters, with the exception of Battling Nelson, have had on entering the ring with him.

Monday, Attell is on the bill for a six-round contest with Eddie Kelly at Seaside and it is said that he is to get $2000 for his end of the purse. If this be true and Kelly is to get even coffee and cake money, it is hard to figure where the club management will get off at.

McGovern to Try Again.

Terry McGovern, the one-time terror of the featherweight division but who has been out of the going in so far as being of anything but the great fighter that he was in former days for the past few years is to re-enter the ring and will meet Johnnie Summery, the English light weight, on the 30th of this month at the Broadway Athletic Club, New York.

Catch weights are to govern the weighing and McGovern, it is announced, will weigh in at about 134 pounds. The promoters handling this affair should certainly receive the patronage of as few of the real sporting fraternity as possible, for the thing of putting on such fighters as Terry McGovern, after they have shown all the signs of decay that this one should be tabooed by every lover of the sport.

McGovern may go through and win this contest as he has in the past when it was thought he was all in, but the chances of a fatality or permanent injury happening, when a booze soaked and dissipated fighter is in the ring are too great to take chances on. At the present time the few clubs that are handling boxing around New York are being left alone by the authorities, but if this thing of putting on such men as McGovern is to continue the game will receive a black eye and everything will be closed down.

West Oakland Show.

The West Oakland Club will hold their regular monthly show on Wednesday night, April 22nd, and have signed as the main event Billy Fudell and Johnnie Murphy. Both boys are slashing light weights of the keep-moving order and should put on a whirling dervish. Other attractions are Willie O'Neill and Otto Horn vs. Red Cornett will make up the remainder of the card.

DANNY LONG'S LUCKY TEAM WINS AGAIN FROM OAKLAND

Melchoir's Home Run in the Opening Spasm Gives Game to the Seals at Recreation Park.

Way back, almost as far as the writer's memory goes, he recalls a ball game wherein the wise guy admonishes the mutt to "Never take the horse shoe from the door." Very likely Danny Long is the author of that ballad, for he surely has the horse shoe hanging around all the time. It was a case of "horse shoe" playing that from the Beavers, and a man with half an eye can see that Long still clings to the equine footgear in the style of his team's play.

Yesterday the first Seals up were safe. Then Nick Williams sacrificed each along one bag. Here's where the horse shoe came along. Melchoir was at the bat. Quick tried to shoot in a "splitter," but the saliva ball was not working right and refused to budge. Melchoir took advantage of this and planted the pellet outside of the yard where the daisy daffies with the vine. That gave the Seals three runs, just enough to win, but with that inevitable luck clinging to them the Seals scored one in the third.

Then in the last inning the "Cubs" had the bases all occupied and two gone, but the luck of the Longites came to the fore and the poor "Cubs" were unable to score more than one in this spasm.

Cooke, the understudy in the left field, played his usual good game and he scored both the runs for the "Cubs." In the fourth he was safe on a high twist that dropped right inside of the first base foul line out of reach of a trio of expectant Seal players. Then Van chopped one to center. Cooke stole third. Eagan poked out a long fly to right and Cooke scored.

In the ninth it looked rosy for the Cubs again. Cooke opened with a single. Then Van came through with a hit. Eagan grounded out while Zeider and Mohler were making the play on Van. Cooke scored with the Cub's final tally. Hogan singled and Haley walked.

Van then sent Altman in to bat for Scruggs, but the gritty Dutchman was out. Score:

Athletes Working Hard for Victory

STANFORD, April 18.—The annual field meet between Stanford and the University of California is being held this afternoon on the new Stanford ground and both universities are struggling to christen the field with a victory.

Despite the fact that Stanford has lost John P. Miller, the veteran half miler, who is now on crutches, Harold Maun-drell, D. P. Crawford, Fred Langan and Geo. Hussey, five of its star men, the supporters of the cardinal still hope to pull victory out of seeming defeat. At the beginning of the season the team was invincible, but as matters stand today it will be a hard fight for victory.

TOMMY BURNS OF THE HYPNOTIC EYE! PUBLIC OUTGAMES LAYERS IN SCRAMBLE FOR COIN

DOES HE MESMERIZE HIS OPPONENTS?

TOMMY BURNS, CHAMPION BOXER OF THE WORLD, IN PRIVATE LIFE.

The extraordinary ease with which Burns disposed of Jack Palmer at Wonderland and of Jim Roche at the Theater Royal, Dublin, has led to a remarkable theory that the famous boxer hypnotizes his opponents, of course unconsciously. Speaking to a correspondent of the Evening News the other day on this very subject, Burns said: "I have been asked before about that. A gentleman asked me the question after my fight with Jack Palmer. He declared that he could not explain on any other supposition the peculiar way both Palmer and Moir behaved in the ring. I told him I was not a mesmerist, or if I were it was without knowing it. 'Do you attach any importance to the power of your eyes in misleading or confusing an opponent?' he asked. 'Well, I usually find that I can steady my man up a bit when I get my gaze well fixed upon him,' he said, 'but I have not considered that fact from the point of view of hypnotism or mental suggestion.'—Photograph by Dixon & Co.—From London Sketch.

Shaefer's Wife Makes Him Return

NEW YORK, April 18.—Jacob Schaefer, champion of the world at 18-1 ballline billiards, has covered the forfeit of $500 posted with the Brunswick-Blake-Collider Company by George Sutton, in support of the challenge for the emblem, and the match will probably be played in this city within six weeks.

Sutton had challenged the winner of the Schaefer-Hoppe match, which took place in Chicago on March 11. Before his last match Schaefer, who has not been in good health for several years, decided that win or lose it should be his last contest for the emblem. His remarkable game, however, caused a storm of protest from all over the country, everybody urging him not to quit the game in which he has been an important factor for more than thirty years. None, however, had more weight with him than the protest of his wife. Besides making a personal plea with Jake, she also wrote the following letter to the Brunswick-Blake-Collider Company:

Brunswick-Blake-Collider Company, New York City.
Gentlemen: Before playing his match with Willie Hoppe for the championship at 18-1 ballline in Chicago on March 11 my husband had declared his intention of retiring from the billiard world, intending to return the emblem to you as the donors. I do not want him either to forfeit the emblem, which by hard work he has successfully defended four times within the past year, or to return it to you as the donors. Probably no one knows better than myself the great amount of physical effort required to get into condition for a match of this kind. The mental strain in practice is not the least matter to be considered. Mr. Schaefer, while not in robust health, is better than he has been for some time. Aside from all these conditions, however, I would rather that my husband be fairly defeated. Consequently I have urged him not to forfeit, and he has decided to accept Sutton's challenge. Mr. Sutton has twice obtained the emblem by forfeit and he has never won it in competition. Yours truly,
Mrs. JACOB SCHAEFER.
New York, March 19.

"Rocklin Flirt" winner of the Tribune cup for the best setter and the Oakland Kennel Club show, and "Ch. St. Lambert's Nohah" winner of the first prize for Irish setters, have never been beaten in their respective classes wherever they have been shown. They, with the champion field dog, "Avalon," and "St. Cloud's Lislarnay," are at the head of the Bella Vista Kennels, which are considered among the best in the country.

"Rocklin Flirt" and "Ch. St. Lambert's Nohah" are the property of George B. M. Gray. They are entered in the San Francisco and Fresno shows.

Dellor Will Pitch the Morning Game

Dellor, the star from the North-west League, now with the Oakland club, will pitch tomorrow morning's game for the Commuters.

This will be Dellor's first appearance in the box for Oakland, and as a bunch of the local fans want to see him work, the chances are that Freeman's Park will be taxed to its capacity.

Secretary McFarlin has made all arrangements for handling the crowd.

The Seals and "Cubs" are playing the best series of ball games that have been on tap in this vicinity in a year. Last Sunday they played a grand 10 to 0 game and more recently a seventeen inning struggle, besides the rest of the games have all been scintillating affairs. Right now these teams are playing major league ball, and fans who like high class baseball should see Dellor work tomorrow.

Amateur Athletes Leave for Portland

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—Eddie Dennis and Lawrence Grantfield, the Olympic Club boxers, who are to compete in the Pacific Coast championships at Portland, under the auspices of the Multnomah Club, left this morning at 11 o'clock for Portland. Boxing Commissioner Nick Prendergast, accompanied by Dennis, Grantfield, and Mike Donlin, his pal, has written saying that the little Brooklynite is tough as wire and looking great.

He will be back in a few weeks and after an examination by a physician, will be started out again.

Well-Played Choices Score in the Five Events, Despite Unwieldy Size of the Fields

Considering the size and quality of yesterday's racing program at Williams Park, the talent succeeded remarkably well in picking the winners. Many good things were played and went glimmering and two heavily backed sleepers were put over, but the regulars and adherents of form cashed on four straight and a second choice.

Three horses came under the wire in a heap in the curtain-raiser, and after the numbers had dropped, Castanea, the favorite, was declared the winner, with Humero second, and Cayenne Cora in third place.

In a fierce stretch drive Centre Shot, the choice, did not get up to grab the second race from Booger Red by a nose on the wire. Adena closed gamely from a bad beginning, and easily beat the others for third money.

It was another bad lot which lined up in the third. Ralph Young, the lukewarm choice, was blocks the best, and taking the track early easily led his field to the wire. Wooten outgamed the vastly improved Mandarin for second position. Andrew Mack and Mary R. posted the best heavily backed, were never contented.

The talent met over another winner when L. C. Ackery won the fourth race. Keogh sent the Ross trick to the front when ready and won easily, and the man fired badly after setting the pace, and was lucky to save the place from Burdonia.

Stillecho was meant today, and heavily played no mistakes were made. Clark sent him to the front early and under the hardest kind of a drive lasted long enough to win by an evensh from Palemon. Patriotic closed with a determined rush to be third.

Marwood backed 40 to 1 down to 20 proved the genuine surprise of the day. Kenilworth seemed to have the sixth race won but the good thing closed like a corker on the outside and scored a clever victory. Loretta, which looked like the best thing on the card, got away under a nose and after a lame race finished third.

Two high class handicaps, the Tamals at a mile and one-sixteenth, and the Novato for sprinters, grace today's racing program at Williams Park, and both should result in sterling contests. The remainder of the card is well filled with several interesting affairs, and their first appearance which will interest race fans and promoter keenly.

Joekey White, who made the weight out of Medakalia, was set down by the starter for incompetency.

E. B. Beatty is here from Arcadia with a small but select stable.

Extra! Extra! Garnet Ferguson was presented with a handsome baby girl by his wife on Wednesday night. The young couple, who have been married for some time, are now residing at Williams Park yesterday. On account of the vacation the Pan Roast Club adjourned their meeting until Monday.

Boxing Tourney For Local Club

There will be held at the Reliance Club, Oakland, on Monday, May 4, 8 p.m. the P. A. A. Olympic Boxing Carnival. This carnival, which will be conducted under the P. A. The national fund is being raised by the American committee for the Olympic Games of 1908, of which President Roosevelt is honorary president. Caspar Whitney, president; James B. Sullivan, secretary, and Julian W. Currier, treasurer.

President Felixotto of the P. A. A. has appointed the following Olympic finance committee from his association: Lionel Wolf, H. W. Kerrigan, Chas. Minto, A. Kutchinski, Alfred C. Skatke.

This committee is in charge of raising funds in the district of the P. A. A. and has many friends at Williams Park yesterday. On account of the vacation the Pan Roast Club adjourned their meeting until Monday.

McGovern to Return To Game of Fisticuffs

NEW YORK, April 18.—Terry McGovern will appear in New York within a month if his condition is right, and his opponent will be Bert Keyes. It was learned last night from pretty good authority that the match was a settled thing if everything goes on well. Terry has been with the Giants in Texas now for six weeks, and Mike Donlin, his pal, has written saying that the little Brooklynite is tough as wire and looking great.

He will be back in a few weeks and after an examination by a physician, will be started out again.

MISS ENID CREGG

Already summer outings far afield are planned by many of our well-known people, and the departure of the fleet will mean the going away also of many of our prominent families. The F. M. Smiths and the Frank Havens will go East, as usual, this summer, the Smiths going to Shelter Island and the Havens to Sag Harbor.

The Charles Butters are to make a motor tour of the British Isles, and the Percy Walkers started for the East and Europe last Sunday. They also are planning an automobile trip abroad, taking with them a new Thomas flyer.

Mrs. John Heath, with her sister, Miss Meeks, and her children, Miss Constance and Master Jack Heath, will leave in May for New York, from which place they will leave for Europe early in the summer. They will sail on the St. Paul, landing at Cherbourg, and they will spend the summer in France.

Mrs. Heath's stay abroad is indefinite, but as she has traveled extensively on the continent before, she will be able to arrange an ideal trip for her children.

Miss Kinsleinicka, who came from Europe three years ago with Mrs. Heath, is returning to her home in Germany. She has made many friends during her stay here, who will regret her departure.

Miss Kinsleinicka has a very beautiful voice, an exceedingly fine contralto, and she is to be the soloist at St. Francis de Sales Church at the Easter services.

Mrs. Herman Oelrichs is planning an extended motor tour on the continent this year, and Miss Jennie Crocker is already abroad, and will be in London for "the season," when she will be entertained by Miss Jean Reid at Dorchester House.

The Charlemagne Towers, about whom so much has been written lately, are still abroad, and this week Mrs. Tower gave her annual luncheon for leading women of the American colony at the Embassy in the Kingsplatz. Covers were laid for sixty at a series of four tables, presided over by ladies belonging to the Embassy staff. The Embassy was superbly decorated with spring flowers, and the luncheon was one of the most notable social events of the week in Berlin.

Whitelaw Reid and Miss Jean Reid are back again in London, and the former is the principal speaker at many of the large banquets and gatherings generally. He never fails to pay a glowing tribute to California, for which he ought to thank him, and everywhere he has expressed the following sentiment:

"There has been nothing in forty odd years, since the greatest civil war of modern times, of which we have more right to be proud than of San Francisco, in the earthquake and of San Francisco today."

WARM WELCOME HAS BEEN PLANNED.

The many friends of Jerome Landfield at Berkeley have been expecting his return for some months, and a warm welcome had been planned for Mrs. Landfield, who was formerly the Princess Lobanoff, a Russian lady of high rank. But the Landfields are indefatigable travelers, and have not yet turned their steps homeward. They have wandered through Siberia, Japan, India and Egypt, and they are now at Cannes on a visit to Princess Lobanoff at the Villa Tropical.

Among the Americans in Paris is Mrs. J. T. Carothers, who is planning to spend several months abroad. Mrs. Carothers will go shortly to England, and will be the guest of intimate friends in London.

WASHINGTON SEASON.

The season in Washington is not yet over, and informal dinners for complimented guests are very much the order of the day.

President and Mrs. Roosevelt entertained at the White House at dinner this week. Their guests included the Russian Ambassador, Baron Rosen, Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Bacon, Representative and Mrs. Longworth, Mrs. Whitelaw Reid and Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey Ward.

The Wards have been extensively entertained both in New York and Washington, and one of Mr. Ward's remarks is being extensively quoted. Looking over the many assemblages he has been invited to address, he said:

"So many women with nothing to do in the morning!"

AMONG THOSE WHO ARE ABROAD.

Among those abroad this year are Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Milton, who are traveling extensively on the continent. They spent some weeks in Vienna, and are now in Munich, where Dr. Milton is visiting the leading hospitals. There was sad news for them when they reached Munich, for a cable met them there announcing the passing last week in this city, of Mrs. Milton's mother.

MADAME GADSKI HAS SAILED.

Madame Gadski sailed for Europe this week, after a remarkably successful season in the East. While she was on this coast, through the kindness of Mrs. Oscar Luning, many of us had the good fortune to personally meet Madame Gadski.

Madame Gadski has been in splendid voice, and at her closing performance one reads that "there was a great burst of enthusiasm, which included 'Bravo, Gadski!' when the singer added the 'Cry of the Walkurens,' which had to be sung four times before the audience was satisfied."

But we will not envy New York. We ourselves heard the famous Valkyrie cry—but we heard it in the splendid Greek Theater, the most magnificent open air theater in the world.

Madame Gadski is going to Germany, and will have a vacation of some weeks in her summer home there.

Charming little Mabel Reigelman, who is doing such good work in Berlin, will be with Gadski in her summer home this year.

CLAYS HAVE GONE TO SANTA BARBARA.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Clay left for Santa Barbara early this week for a short vacation trip. They were accompanied by Mr. Clay's charming young sister, Miss Madeline Clay, and Miss Harriet Meek was also of the party.

The Clays are at the Potter, and they intend to remain at Santa Barbara while the fleet is in the harbor.

ILLNESS OF MRS. SCHELL.

The many friends of Mrs. Georgiana Schell are very sorry to hear of her extremely dangerous illness, and to hear also that there is very little hope of her recovery.

Mrs. Schell, who is a sister of Mrs. Henry Butters, is well known in society circles about the bay. Her home is in Sonoma county, but she has always spent a great deal of time in San Francisco, where she is well known for her many charitable works. Mrs. Butters has been with her sister for the past two weeks, and early this week Mrs. R. Augusta Bray went to Sonoma to join her mother at Mrs. Schell's bedside.

REQUAS ARE GOING EAST.

Immediately after Easter Mr. and Mrs. Mark Requa and their children will leave for the East for a vacation trip of some weeks. The "Sunshine Pavilion" at Fabiola is now completed, and the little children there greatly enjoy the sunshine that it brings into their dear little lives.

Through Mrs. Mark Requa's efforts the addition is all paid for, and Mrs. Requa can consistently enjoy vacation days, knowing that she has helped to brighten the young lives who have been in sad need of her efforts.

RENEWED ACTIVITIES IN THE CLUBS.

While there has been nothing in a social way going on in our local smart set—there never is in Holy Week, everywhere there have been renewed activities in our many clubs. Bridge has so persistently claimed the attention of many people that they have neglected, in a measure, the many clubs to which they have belonged.

But the closing days of the season present a renewal of many activities, and the club dates are of far more than the usual degree of interest.

The regular monthly luncheon of Ebbl took place on Tuesday, and was a most interesting event. The decorations were specially worthy of note, and presented a flower scheme of roses, exceedingly attractive, and very spring like.

The center table showed a very fine arrangement of gorgeous red roses, and all the other tables carried lovely roses, in many color tones, the whole making a charming study in decoration.

Mrs. Prentiss Selby, who was away for so long, was the hostess of the day, and her many friends gave her a reception, in which there was a warm welcome home.

There were almost a hundred guests, which made the gathering of more than the usual degree of interest, and after luncheon there was a very able address by Mr. Spiney, who is an authority on Indian lore. Among the well-known people at the Ebbl breakfast were Mrs. J. B. Hume, Miss Eva Powell, Mrs. Charles J. Woodbury, Mrs. Prentiss Selby, Miss Mollie Connors, Mrs. T. L. Barker, Mrs. Horry Meek, Mrs. J. Loran Pease, Mrs. Felton Taylor, Mrs. George Gross, Mrs. Clark Goddard, Mrs. A. A. Dennison, Mrs. Frank Moffitt, Mrs. E. B. Sanborn, Mrs. E. N. Ewer, Mrs. Hurd, Mrs. Bernard Miller, Mrs. F. M. Smith, Mrs. Roland Oliver, Miss Sperry, Mrs. Giles Gray, Mrs. F. B. Ogden, Mrs. Charles H. Rowe, Mrs. W. E. Sharon, Mrs. M. Standish, Mrs. Hayward Thomas, Mrs. Edgar Stone, Mrs. J. R. Scupham, Miss Phoebe Smith, Mrs. Charles L. Smith, Mrs. George Stark, Mrs. W. D. Gelwicks, Mrs. Felton Taylor, Mrs. E. C. Tlmerman, Mrs. Rees Thompson, Mrs. Lewis Tishiera, Mrs. Kate A. Bulkeley, Mrs. C. W. Kinsey, Mrs. Sam Brock, Mrs. Easton, Miss Morgan, Mrs. L. G. Burpee, Mrs. Charles R. Brown.

INTERESTING LUNCHEONS AT HOME CLUB.

One of the most interesting luncheons of the year was given at the Home Club on Thursday, the luncheon guests including many representative women of our city. The guests were received by Mrs. P. R. Boone in her usual happy way. It is a great, good gift of fate to know how to be dignified, and at the same time to be sweet and entirely cordial to the guests within one's gates.

Mrs. Boone has been so entirely the ideal club president that one could wish for her a permanent office.

Mrs. Boone looked extremely well on Thursday in a very handsome gown of all-over white lace. The tables were decorated with lovely blossoms, making a picture showing charming spring effects. The after-luncheon program was quite the most important held this year in any of the clubs, for the discussion was along school lines, and the problems are of vital interest in all our homes.

MISS EMILY STONE

Miss Ethel Moore was chairman of the afternoon, and very few people know how to preside as well as Miss Moore. She is such a thorough student that she understands fully the many problems that come up for discussion.

In her opening remarks, Miss Moore called attention to the interest now being aroused in school questions, notably in the fraternities in secondary schools, in the evils arising from them, and in the general demand of the public that they be done away, as has been the case in some of the older cities of the East.

Miss Moore also called attention to the growing sentiment in the community that the present High School, being now in the heart of our business center, ought to be made into a city hall, and separate high schools for boys and girls established farther out of town.

The new Orpheum is just across the street from the High School, a fact hailed with joy in the last school period of the day by many pupils. The High School situation was all right in the old days before the earthquake, but it is all wrong now, that Oakland bounded all of a sudden in one night into its heritage of a great city.

Miss Moore described the experiment in the Los Angeles High School of selling luncheons to the children who did not wish to carry lunches to school.

"One could buy a cake for five cents, or a pie for five cents, or half a cake and half a pie for five cents."

And the authorities cleared seven hundred dollars by their first year's experiment, and they have put the money into a tennis court for the use of the school children.

Miss Elizabeth Ashe is at the head of a little coterie of girls of the smart set in San Francisco who have done most admirable work among the poor people, especially in the Telegraph Hill district. They have just succeeded in getting nurses into the public schools, which is one of the great movements of the age.

It means the prevention of illness among children, and one earnestly hopes the system may be adopted over here.

There is such a lot for us to do on our side of the bay, and arousing public opinion is such a hard, and sometimes hopeless task!

An exceedingly able public speaker, Mr. Rossiter, from one of the county high schools, addressed the club members on the subject of "Fraternities in the High Schools."

In his special school any student who proposed a fraternity would be promptly expelled. Mr. Rossiter outlined his talk under the subject of ten, heads, ten reasons why fraternities in the high school should not be allowed. Any one of the reasons would have been quite enough, but one wishes he could have presented the whole ten to our own local Board of Education. One could fancy the entire board going to the High School next morning and making short work of every fraternity in it.

There were other very interesting speakers, and it was a late hour in the afternoon before the meeting finally adjourned.

It is one of the afternoons sure to bear good fruit, since the discussions were along such wisely planned lines.

Among the members and their guests were Mrs. P. R. Boone, Mrs. John Bakewell, Miss Ethel Moore, Mrs. Hermann Kower, Miss Mollie Connors, Miss Elizabeth Ashe, Mrs. C. C. Clay, Mrs. Wellman, Mrs. Edgar Bishop, Mrs. D. R. Rae, Mrs. D. H. Mathes, Mrs. Edwin Morrison, Mrs. Anthony, Miss Horton, Miss Charlotte Center, Miss Nellie Jones, Mrs. Goddard, Mrs. Rising, Mrs. Charles Butters, Mrs. J. M. Brock, Mrs. J. H. Brewer, Miss Grace Barnard, Mrs. A. S. Carman, Mrs. G. E. Brinkerhoff, Mrs. George Colby, Mrs. Rising, Mrs. W. E. Beck, Mrs. L. S. Burchard.

MRS. MILLER IS MUCH IMPROVED.

Mrs. H. M. A. Miller, who is most popular among the members of the smart sets on both sides of the bay, has been very ill in her home in San Francisco. She is much better, however, and expects to leave in a few days for Southern California, where she will be the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Howard Huntington.

VISITING AGAIN IN OAKLAND.

Miss Maria Babson, one of the charter members of the Ebbl Club, has returned to Oakland for a visit of some weeks. Miss Babson makes her home now in Colorado with her nephew, Rev. William Nat Friend.

Miss Babson has had a most cordial welcome from many old time friends and she was one of the guests of honor at the Ebbl luncheon on Tuesday. Miss Babson was also an honored guest of the Home Club at its Thursday luncheon.

COLLEGIATE ALUMNAE TO ENTERTAIN.

One of the largest of the college receptions of the year is set for next Saturday, when the collegiate alumnae will entertain graduates of the University of California and of Stanford. The reception will be given at Mosswood, the picturesque home of Mrs. George Child, from 2 to 5 p. m.

As the years go by the Collegiate Alumnae develop a powerful organization on this coast of well trained women—a factor to be reckoned with in the progress of the State. Women who represent much of which we are proud are enrolled among the Collegiate Alumnae, and among them are Julia Morgan, now one of the foremost architects in the state, and Jessica Peixotto, the brilliant young doctor of laws, who is on the University faculty. Mrs. Hart North, formerly Emma Morgan, took her degree from the La

School, and so did Mrs. William Colby, formerly Rachel Vrooman, and Mrs. Deering also is a graduate of Hastings. Mrs. William H. Morrison, formerly May Treat, was for some years president of the Collegiate Alumnae, and one of the brightest graduates of the University is Miss Emma Gross. She is a most attractive girl, and one of the most accomplished linguists in the State.

CLOSING OF THE COLLEGE YEAR.

The closing of the college year brings with it many social dates of more than the usual degree of interest and among dates is always the annual dinner of the Zeta Psi fraternity, the "Zetes," as they are usually called. The thirtieth annual banquet took place at the Hotel St. Francis last Saturday evening and was a most successful affair. The replies to the toasts called out some fine oratory and some really brilliant speeches.

Among the well known members of the Zeta Psi are Frederick Stratton, Judge Henshaw, Lieutenant Pearce, Frank Glass, Thomas Carneal, Tom Pheby, Fred Pheby, Whipple Hall, Cleve Baker, George Gage, Stephen Gage, Jr., William E. Dargie, Shirley Houghton, John Cook, P. E. Bowles, Charles Field, Professor Plehn, Joseph Le Conte, Jr., Walter Rutherford, Henry Foster Dutton.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Miss Ruth Sadler is the attractive daughter of Mrs. C. M. Sadler and sister of Mrs. Louis Rison. Mead.

Miss Emily Stone is one of the popular brides-elect of the season.

Mrs. Linda Bryan and Miss Enid Gregg are prominent in society about the bay. Mrs. Bryan is a frequent hostess and Miss Gregg is a favorite in the younger set in San Francisco.

PROMINENT MEMBERS OF ALUMNAE.

Other well known alumnae are Mrs. Charles H. Rome, Miss Bertha Knox, Mrs. Carl Parker, Doctor Brownell, Miss Katherine Felton, Miss Lena Redington, Miss Annie Brown, Miss Ethel Olney, Miss Ruth Rising, Miss Tellulah Le Conte, Mrs. Malcolm Graham, Mrs. John Dierck, Mrs. Julius Kahn, Mrs. Dudley Kinsell, Mrs. Benjamin Smith, Mrs. Scapham, Mrs. Louis Hengstler, Mrs. Anson Blake. The list from Eastern colleges includes Miss Ethel Moore, Miss Anita Whitney, Miss Gertrude Ballard and Miss Mabel Pierce.

Mrs. William Keith, the noted woman suffrage leader, is also of the University alumnae, and among other graduates are Mrs. Willis Kelley, Katherine Wickson, Ruth Wilder, Miss Douglas Whitehead, Miss Mary Moore, Miss Bertha Knox, Miss Teddy Howard, Miss Beside Mills, Virginia Whitehead, Elizabeth Arneall, Mrs. Hugh Webster, Mrs. Martin K. Metcalf, Miss Myrtle Sims, Miss Elsie Everson, Mrs. Marietta Edwards, Mrs. Walter Hart, Miss Maud Sutton, Miss Carol Day and Miss Gladys Wickson.

These are just a few of the alumnae from around the bay. One might go on indefinitely evolving a long list of women prominent in affairs all over the State.

CALIFORNIA IN PUBLIC EYE.

"As others see us" is always a favorite theme of discussion, and our own California has been much in the public eye of late. The coming of a great fleet brings the attention of the civilized world to us, and recently the arrival of the automobiles in a famous international race makes California the center of interest.

The Italians write for a big New York paper: "California is worth all the effort we made. This is the most beautiful country in the world; more beautiful than anyone imagines who has not seen it. It reminds one much of Italy. The people are hospitable itself. They are generous and warm hearted, and we are deeply grateful for their many kindnesses."

And way off in the London Mail they write of us: "As we run through California these beautiful flowers, this perfume, the beautiful lines of the country, recall to us our dear country so far away now. To our memory come the small cities in Sicily, which are sleeping among woods of orange trees. All our country in different sections is in front of our eyes, and this combination in this beautiful corner of the world is called California. San Francisco is the only city in this big transcontinental run that has left a very deep impression upon our minds—this city full of ruins, walls, full of thousands of people. And they have showered flowers upon us till our Zest looks as if it were a wandering garden and we just happy, carnival merry-makers."

UNIVERSITY EVENING AT EBELL CLUB.

What promises to be an interesting date of next week is set for Wednesday evening at the Ebell Club, and the notices sent out announce it as "University Evening." A play is to be produced of more than usual degree of merit, and the De Koven Club of the University will give a musical program. Later in the evening there will be dancing in the beautiful assembly hall of the Ebell Club.

MISS ALBRIGHT TO STUDY IN EAST.

Miss Violet Albright leaves for New York the first of May and she is planning to spend some months in study there. Miss Albright has a very beautiful soprano voice, which has been most carefully trained. She has spent some months before in New York studying with splendid success under the best masters. She has done so well in concert work and has been so admirably received everywhere that she is encouraged to go on with her musical studies.

Miss Albright is a sister of Mrs. Howard Bray and the Albright home has always been one of the most hospitable in the Fruitvale district.

MISS GIBSON TO ENTERTAIN EASTER.

One of the delightful Easter parties of the season will be given by little Miss Constance Gibson, who will entertain at her home in Alameda twenty of her little girl friends. Little Miss Gibson is the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Y. Gibson, and the bright little granddaughter of the Charles J. Woodbury. The Gibsons have a charming home in Alameda, and they have planned a delightful Easter party for their young daughter and her baby friends.

MRS. HUNTINGTON TO VISIT YOSEMITE.

Mrs. Huntington, with her daughters, Mrs. Brockway Metcalf and Miss Marian Huntington are planning a trip to Yosemite valley this summer. The trip to Yosemite is not the dangerous and very arduous feat is used to represent, for the railroad has annihilated distances and robbed the trip of most of its dangers, and this year it is planned to have the hotels more nearly meet the requirements of the increased tourist travel.

WHAT OF THE BRIDGE SUBSTITUTE?

Now that the season is practically over there are some phases of social life that have become vastly amusing and one is moved to mirth over the bridge question. For after all the players of bridge go on quite unmoved by anything which may be said against them. But one phase which is amusing concerns the relation between the hostess and the bridge substitute, and the point of view of each differs widely. In New York the home of the bridge player, the relations are much more strained than they are here. Many women promptly accept any invitation to join a bridge club and when it is impossible to appear at all of them she quietly sends a substitute to the least desirable. And here is where the wrath of the hostess rises to meet the situation. She complains that in this way guests come to her house whom she does not care to know, whom she would never meet under other circumstances.

Sometimes the substitutes take very little trouble to be even nice to her, nor to be specially nice to the members of the club with whom they are to play. It is hard on the hostess when she has three or more substitutes whose names she does not even know and who are unknown to probably most of her guests. She does not know what kind of a game they play, so she does not know where to place them.

One hostess said: "They," meaning the substitutes, "swart into the house as if they owned the place, inquired whom they were to play with and made trouble generally. They acted quite as if they were in a hotel or restaurant, and they never thought of saying a polite good-bye or of telling me they had enjoyed the afternoon." That is one side of the story—the substitute has her side. "She played an exceedingly good game of bridge and was a charming and very dear friend when I she agreed quite as a favor to take her place. But she will never be a substitute again, for she tells of her experiences in very vigorous English."

HOSTESS SHOWED HER ANNOYANCE.

"In the first place the hostess was distinctly annoyed, and she allowed me to see it, and when I introduced myself and gave her my name she almost asked me to spell it. With a very bad grace she assigned me to a table and only the thought of my sick friend kept me to the post of duty. I was only asked the usual formalities of the game by the other players of the afternoon, then I was completely ignored."

"They discussed previous games, little intimate remarks of their set, and I remained as completely on the outside as though I had hailed from the North Pole. I passed in my score to the hostess, who failed to thank me for coming, who did not in the least express any pleasure—the conventional pleasure—at having met me, and I shook the dust of the house from my feet long before the afternoon tea was served. Break bread in that house? Never!"

And so it goes; the relation between the bridge hostess and the substitute—strained to the limit—now that the season is practically at an end.

TO PASS SUMMER IN CANADA.

Mr. and Mrs. James Jordan are planning to close their home on Pacific avenue and to go to Canada for the summer. They have a most beautiful and very picturesque home on the St. Lawrence, where they make friends very welcome each summer. Mrs. Jordan is a very great friend of Mrs. Richard Derby and she also has many prominent Oakland people on her visiting list. She is one of the San Francisco hostesses who has entertained most elaborately this year, her bridge parties having been very beautifully planned and her home has carried the most elaborate decorations of the winter.

ON DRIVING TRIP THROUGH MOUNTAINS.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holland left early in the week on a driving trip through the Santa Cruz mountains, the trip to take them to their country home, D'Uallah.

Mrs. Holland loves the country and she is always among the first to leave town this year staying away till the autumn days call her again to city life.

Mrs. Wade, Mrs. Holland's mother, will spend the summer with her in her home in the mountains.

The after Easter dates are of more than the ordinary degree of interest this year. On Easter Monday Mrs. Charles Tripper Hutchinson will entertain at a tea in honor of the brides-elect, Miss Havens, Miss Chabot and Miss Knowles, all of whom seem to have so many friends.

BECOMES INSANE ON WEDDING EVE

Girl Crosses Continent for Her Wedding and Finds Lover in Mental Collapse.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—After a journey of 2000 miles across the continent from her home in Medford, Wis., in fulfillment of a promise she had made four years ago to marry Joseph Scollard, a lover of schoolmate days, Miss Mabel Kilmer arrived in San Francisco yesterday only to learn as she stepped from the Pullman that her lover had suddenly become violently insane. On the eve of the joyous wedding that was to have been, the girl sank fainting into the arms of her mother, her happy anticipations changed to deepest grief.

Miss Kilmer and her mother are staying at the home of the Scollards. Come what may and inexpressible as her grief, she declared that she will be true to her lover and will tenderly strive to nurse him back to health and the happiness that waits for him. He will be taken to a private sanitarium today.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—A picked nine from the actors and executive staff of the Ham Tree company defeated a team composed of officers of the Presidio yesterday afternoon on the Presidio diamond by a score of 19 to 8. The Presidio team was crippled by the absence of Captain Tobin. McIntyre and Heath kept the bleachers in a roar of laughter by their sallies all afternoon and their mouth work had as much to do with the winning of the game as their work with the ball and bat.

The married officers will cross bats with the unmarried officers this afternoon.

Truth and Quality

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

home and his aide after they had been killed by Samoans. He was also with one of the military companies which penetrated into the interior of China to the forbidden city. Dr. Lung stands nearly at the head of the navy medical corps and is the physician at the Brooklyn navy yard and of the receiving ship Independence, and hence is not with the fleet. His many western friends will extend him sincere congratulations on the good fortune which has befallen so charming an officer and gentleman.

QUIET OF HOLY WEEK.

A number of small teas for out-of-town visitors and the meetings of the usual bridge clubs are the only social gatherings permitted for this quiet week. Mrs. Walter Starr, whose favorite form of entertainment is the small tea, entertained twenty-five guests at her charming home, "Redwooda," in honor of Miss Willis of Los Angeles, who is the guest of Miss Ethel Valentine. Easter week is always a time for numerous bridge parties, and among those who have sent out invitations across the bay is Mrs. Paul Bancroft, who has sent out invitations for Wednesday of next week, and Mrs. G. L. Lansing, who has invited a few tables for Friday of next week.

There is always a great deal of bridge in April and May before everyone goes away for the summer, and this spring will be no exception, except that the early weeks of May will be almost entirely given up to the festivities in honor of the fleet. Cards are out for the large receptions and there will be numberless dinners and smaller affairs in honor of the Secretary of the Navy and of the visiting naval officers.

Congratulations are also being sent to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Somers (Miss Emily Marvin), whose first baby, also a daughter, arrived last week. Mrs. Somers is a beautiful young woman and before her marriage was a great belle.

HOLY WEEK IN SAN DIEGO.

It must be distressing to the truly religious to witness the celebration of holy week in San Diego. Naturally that town is having the wildest and gayest week in its entire history. The arrival of the fleet with the men in possession of a full month's pay, and of ten thousand visitors from the interior has made the city fairly boom and the Hotel Coronado has erected a tent city to accommodate the overflow of guests.

GOSSIP FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

ACTRESS AND DECORATOR.

Miss Elsie de Wolfe, the talented New York actress, is at the Fairmont. She came hither to design and arrange the interior decorations of the new Crocker home at Burlingame now being built by Louis Hobart. Though Miss de Wolfe is one of the successful stars of the stage she does not give all her time to the histrionic art. Such is her genius in the decorative art that her services are always in demand and she has designed the interior decorations of some of the most beautiful homes in New York. The most famous girls' college in America, Brooks Hall, Barnard College, with its ninety bedrooms, was planned and arranged by Miss de Wolfe. Perhaps her most notable work was that of the decoration of the famous Colony Club of New York, of which some of the most distinguished women in the country are members. The club building was made architecturally perfect by the late Stanford White, and the finishing touches of the interior were given by Miss de Wolfe's artistic hand. Especially beautiful is the club's winter garden, with its divans, growing plants and exquisite sun-parlor. In every respect the interior is in harmony with the architectural scheme. Miss de Wolfe was at work two years on the Colony Club. She took up her residence in the unfinished building while the work was in progress. Miss de Wolfe, by the way, is a sister of S. S. de Wolfe, the well-known hotel man of this city.—Town Talk.

THE PUBLIC AND THE PROSECUTORS.

In the answers of talesmen in Judge Dooling's and Judge Lawlor's courts within the week we have an emphatic demonstration of how the so-called graft prosecution stands with the people. Citizen after citizen drawn from varied walks of life has declared his lack of confidence in the prosecuting agents with his contempt for their theories and their methods. The prosecution through its control of District Attorney Langdon still has the machinery of justice in its hands; but it is plainly impotent because public sentiment is against it. It has taken the people a good while to see the ineffectiveness of this business, to understand what some of us discovered a year ago, namely, that men were being prosecuted not so much because they are criminals as because they are the business rivals and the private enemies of Rudolph Spreckels and James D. Phelan. And now that the public does understand it, it gives to this movement the distrust and contempt which it deserves. If there be those who doubt this—those who think that it is only the rich and the mighty who question the motives and the doings of the prosecutors—let him read attentively the answers given by a hundred or more citizens in Judge Dooling's and Judge Lawlor's courts.—Argonaut.

FINISH OF EVELYN THAW.

Evelyn Thaw, of whom long since we heard more than enough, continues to occupy an undue share of public attention. She is to get her divorce without difficulty, the New York court apparently having reduced its functions to the point of ratifying the arrangements made by the Thaw family. Then the frail Evelyn is either to go abroad, or stay at home, or go to California, or go to live with her people, or abandon her people, or live in Montana, or marry again, or not marry again, or—but the story grows wearisome. What Evelyn Thaw will do will be to carry her pretty face and her scandalous notoriety to the stage, where for a time she will attract the curious and the morbid. Then when her face is no longer pretty and when her wretched history interests nobody any more, she will sink to the 19-cent vaudeville.—Argonaut.

WORKING THE SOCIAL PULL.

Probably the woman with the most wide and important acquaintance among the officers of the fleet is Mrs. Alfred Hunter Voorhies. Mrs. Eleanor Martin is the leader in society for whom the army has always fired imperial salute, but Mrs. Martin has never been identified with society at Mare Island. And I am told that from Mare Island thousands of invisible wires are being strung to be tapped and pulled at just the proper psychological moment. The wives of the officers who for some time past have been stationed at the island naturally know who's who in San Francisco society. Moreover, they know exactly what their own status is with the various sets in society. They can count the noses that look retrograde when the navy is on the social carpet and it's such a lovely chance to run the carpet sweeper over them! The Mare Island people of course know practically every officer with the fleet and they will be natural guides, philosophers and friends to whom the officers will appeal. The set of girls in town who have been popular at Mare Island, who have danced down the twinkling hours in the jolly old sail loft are sure to be rushed with shipboard invitations. There are about fifteen San Francisco belles who are invited to every function at Mare Island and right now these young women are the most popular girls in town. Every girl with social ambitions that would like to soar during the visit of the fleet, is bracing up her connections with the people who already have a "stand in" with the navy. The chaperones who are most apt to be summoned for shipboard duty are besieged with attentions. If Mrs. Inez Shorb Buck were here she could open a broker's office and deal in promises to procure invitations on shipboard. Although her marriage to Dr. Buck takes her into the army end of the service as Mrs. White she counted her acquaintances in the navy by the hundreds and was always in demand to chaperon the girls to Mare Island. Mrs. Voorhies, whose friendship with the McCalla family brought her into such close touch with the navy will probably pass her honors to her daughter, Mrs. Kate Voorhies Henry and it is a safe guess that Mrs. Henry will be among those to most frequently assist in receiving guests on shipboard.—Town Talk.

LILY LAWLOR WAS A WITNESS.

The abbreviated accounts which we received of the Hart McKee divorce proceedings disclose the fact that at one time Miss Lily Lawlor made her home in that anything but monotonous menage. Miss Lawlor's testimony has been introduced at the trial but only fragmentary shreds of it are cabled across to us. However, the interrogation which pricks the imagination of local society is how Miss Lawlor even came to affiliate with Mrs. McKee. The widow of Hugh Tevis divorced herself from the Tevis family when she married the hero of more than one domestic fiasco. Miss Lawlor has always been very intimate with the Tevis family. Dr. Tevis, on one of his visits to this city, made Miss Lawlor the motif of so many elaborate entertainments that the bivouage of the hour concerned itself with engagement rumors. When the wind had thoroughly peeled off these rumors just a fine ripe friendship was disclosed and until society in general learned that Miss Lawlor had been living with Mrs. McKee it was supposed that this friendship with the various members of the Tevis family still existed.

Miss Lawlor was for years the protégée of Mrs. Gus Spreckels. About the time Lurline Spreckels married Spencer Eddy, Miss Lawlor took up her residence in New York and it was rumored that she was no longer on intimate terms with the Spreckels family. When she returned to Paris Mrs. McKee took a fancy to her, for Mrs. McKee was then conducting a campaign for social honors, and Miss Lawlor on account of her experience and her familiarity with the dips, spurs and angles of the Parisian social route was able to render her valuable service. A friend in Paris writes me that Miss Lawlor is still standing by Mrs. McKee and as that young matron has managed to excite an unaccountable lot of sympathy, from foreigners particularly, Miss Lawlor has not fallen into a bed of thorns, as many people might imagine. She is looking very stunning and though now a native woman manages to give some impression of the young person.—Town Talk.

JUST A LITTLE HARD ON OAKLAND.

Oakland is complaining because the ferry accommodations will be inadequate to transport the passenger traffic on the day that the fleet is scheduled to arrive in the bay. It is promised that about 300,000 persons will cross the bay on the morning of the great day, and unless the fleet arrives almost as soon as the Oaklanders do, it will be impossible to return this crowd to the other side in time to catch a car for home—and it is proverbial in California that the citizen of Oakland insists on being at home, and, if possible, in bed about curfew time. It will be a great hardship on the average Oakland citizen if he is compelled to stay in San Francisco all night—and it is traditional that such over-night sojourn by the Oakland citizen is also immoral, and sufficient grounds for divorce in the courts of Alameda county. There is apparently but one resource for the citizen who lives in Oakland; he must view the great pageant from the Berkeley hills—and what more advantageous vantage point could be chosen than the ridge of Grizzly Peak? The only drawback to this alternative is the possibility that the street cars between Oakland and Berkeley will not run long enough to transport all the sight-seers to their homes—the Carmen's union having dictated a village night schedule for Oakland and its environs. However, it is easier to walk home than it is to swim.—News Letter.

GROTESQUE ALLEGORIES—NO. 1.

A Great Editor addressing his Circulation Manager complained of his neglect of duty. "I know," he said, "that the people are not reading the Evening Freebooter, for three thousand talesmen have been examined in the sensational Bunk case and all affirmed their innocence in the defendant despite the fact that every day for a whole year I have proclaimed his guilt and insisted that none but the subsidized and boughten dissented from my views."

"But," said the Circulation Manager, "I am authoritatively informed that it is not despite but because you affirm his guilt that they believe him to be innocent."

"Then," said the Great Editor, "they impugn my veracity."

"Not exactly," said the Circulation Manager; "they have confidence in your graft."

NO. 2.

"This has been a misspent day," said a Famous Graft Prosecutor as the gathering gloom betokened the approach of night. "I have vituperated nobody today."

The sad reflection filled his mind with anguish. He was about to start for his home when his client, the Civic Patriot, entered.

"At whom have you hurled abuse today?" asked the Civic Patriot.

The Famous Graft Prosecutor bowed his head in shame and in the agony of his spirit admitted that he had flunked.

"Are you at the end of your resources?" demanded the Civic Patriot.

The Famous Graft Prosecutor experienced a faint flicker in his sense of humor and he made reply: "Not unless you are broke." But the joke went over the head of the Civic Patriot, who, it appears, was deficient in the one thing that might have restrained him from being what he was.

"You must get out and threaten to send somebody to jail," said the Civic Patriot.

"Alas!" said the Famous Prosecutor, "there is none left. To all others I have given immunity."

"What!" exclaimed the Civic Patriot, "have you betrayed me?"

"Not yet," replied the Famous Prosecutor, "but now that you suggest it, that's about all there is left for me to do—turn state's evidence on you and get immunity myself."

WHERE IS CORNELIUS?

Some enterprising reporter should look up the whereabouts of Mr. Richard Cornelius, who for three years and over was more prominently in the public eye than any other citizen of San Francisco, and who did as much as anybody that ever came to San Francisco to ruin its prosperity. Because of his pernicious activity, Mr. Cornelius was given a position as Commissioner of Civil Service—the place of all others for which he was most unfitted. He still draws the salary of that office, though he has been missing from his usual haunts for a long time, and it is said that he has been for nearly four months outside of the state on leave of absence. He has not given the public treasury any vacation, however, for his warrant is cashed every month with accustomed regularity.

It is really better for the state that Mr. Cornelius should be out of it than in it, but the continuous payment of his salary, when he has ceased to earn it, may have the effect of attracting him back to the city again and therefore is both reprehensible and dangerous.—The Wasp.

THE ONLY EYE WITNESS.

One man, and only one, who saw the first American warship pass the Golden Gate and anchor in the bay of Yerba Buena, will witness this great event of American naval history for which nearly a million American citizens are now waiting. This man is William Heath Davis, who, with General Vallejo, Nathan Spear, Captain John Richardson and Governor Alexander Richey of the Russian Fur Company at Fort Ross, welcomed Commodore Wilkes on his arrival in the bay afterwards called San Francisco sixty-seven years ago, in the month of July, 1841. That was a peaceful exploring expedition, but later in December, 1842, Commodore Jones, on board the sloop-of-war Cyane sailed through the Golden Gate from Monterey which he had "taken" from the Spaniards upon false information that war had been declared between the United States and Mexico. Of course Commodore Jones, after raising the American flag in the plaza of Monterey, hauled it down again (the first and the last time that the flag has been lowered), and gave back the city to its owners. The two vessels commanded by Commodore Wilkes were the sloop-of-war Vincennes and the brig Porpoise. On both occasions the officers and sailors of these ships were hospitably entertained by the folk ashore, and there were receptions and dances on board the war vessels. William Heath Davis is all that is left of that almost forgotten history of California—the people are all dead and the ships have long since rotted at their moorings; the American navy itself is quite another thing. Mr. Davis is now eighty-six years old, but he says he will stand where he can view this second coming of an American war fleet to the Golden Gate and to the bay of Yerba Buena—he will be the only one of those who greeted the first ships of the American navy, and with him will pass the last vestige of human remainder from the time when California changed her flag and set the western limits of the course of empire.—Town Talk.

THE GENEROUS ARMSBY.

The J. K. Armsbys have bought the Allen place in Ross Valley and will make it their home. They are great travelers and generally go to all the summer resorts during the season. Mrs. Armsby is a crack golf player and an expert in tennis. They are extremely generous, these wealthy ex-Chicagoans, and spend much of their income in charity, unostentatiously bestowed. After the earthquake they lent their beautiful home in Ross Valley to the Maria Kip Orphanage, and the little orphans were moved from their practically destroyed city refuge to the lovely country place in Marin county. Later the orphans were taken to Dick Hotelling's hospitable home.—The Wasp.

RYAN HOLDS A LOOF.

Daniel Ryan, the man who organized the fight against the Republican machine in this city last year, has not yet contributed the prestige of his personality to the Lincoln-Roosevelt League. Nor is he likely to do so. And yet Ryan is hostile to the machine. Ryan's sincerity as a reformer cannot be impeached. He is really a man with ideals above job-chasing, but the Lincoln-Roosevelt movement does not enthrall him sufficiently to lure him away from his law practice. Is it possible that he has no faith in the sterling patriots who are giving life and color to that movement? There are rumors to that effect, mere vagrant rumors that would not impress in the slightest degree were it not for Mr. Ryan's apparent apathy.—Town Talk.

GLAD TO HAVE MRS. CROCKER.

There is a great deal of pleasure expressed among the Burlingame set over the announced intention of the William H. Crockers to spend the summer out here. Mrs. Crocker is a personality to be reckoned with, as even the least enthusiastic of her admirers will admit, so her absence has not been a negative affair. The eldest daughter, Ethel, will make her debut in two years, and it is hoped that San Francisco, not New York, will be the background chosen. The Crocker home at Burlingame is being put into readiness for the arrival of the family.—News Letter.

THE REAL "FIGHTING BOB" EVANS.

"Fighting Bob" Evans is putting up the fight of his life down at Paso Robles and he has lost none of the grit and none of the confidence that won for him the sobriquet by which he is known all over the world. Twinges of rheumatism have made him squirm, but between squirms he smiles and vows that he will pilot the fleet through the Golden Gate if he has to do so on a litter. When I saw him the other day he was complaining principally of his knee, the knee that is ever a reminder of his first experience at the front in the civil war, for a shot shattered that knee and sent Evans to the hospital. The wound was received in the attack on Fort Fisher. Evans was then only eighteen years of age, but even then he exhibited that grim determination which has been characteristic ever since. Shortly after his admission to the hospital he heard the surgeons discussing his case. One of them ordered that his leg be amputated in the morning. He reached for his revolver, secreted it under his pillow and waited for the morning. On the arrival of the surgeons he told them he would not submit to an operation. As they soon made it apparent that his wishes were not to be considered he reached for his revolver and warned them against attempting to cut off his leg, saying that he would kill a few men before the operation was begun. The surgeons deemed it wise to hold another consultation, and the result was the abandonment of the operation and the saving of the leg. When Evans was with the fleet of warships that participated in the celebration of the opening of the Kiel canal in 1895, he entertained Prince Henry on board the Columbia. Seeing Captain Evans limping along the deck Prince Henry said to him, "Captain, I'd give ten years of my life to have your wounded knee."

Perhaps the most striking anecdote indicative of his character and certainly the one that reaped him immense popularity had to do with the blowing up of the battleship Maine. At that eventful period Evans had received a new command and was eager to show his mettle. He haunted the naval headquarters in Washington, proffering all kinds of advice, but the government authorities, though they gravely received all suggestions, gave no hint of what the war office proposed to do. Evans was nothing daunted by this lack of encouragement, but kept bombarding officialdom as warmly and persistently as he did later the forts of Santiago. One day as he came out of the office of the Secretary of the Navy a bunch of eager correspondents nipped him. "Anything special, captain?" demanded half a dozen voices. "No," growled Evans. "What did the secretary say?" came the insistent query. "Oh, nothing much." "What did you say?" "Why," returned Evans, squaring his shoulders, "I said, 'Mr. Secretary, just let me go down to Havana with the New York alone. I don't ask for any help. But I promise you that if you'll let me cut loose there won't be anything but Spanish spoken in hell for the next five years.'"

DISCOVERED THREE PARKS.

Superior Judge M. H. Hyland has dug around in the city records of San Jose and found in the borders of the city three parks set aside in early days for the use of the people, but which, up to this date, have been unused. The judge is interested in playgrounds for children, and sees in the unused parks an opportunity for the boys to play ball and to engage in various athletic games. He is moving in the matter to have the parks opened to the children. Certainly the parks could be put to no better use, as the boys can then play undisturbed and owners of vacant lots will not be bothered.—News Letter.

FUNSTON IS MUCH TOO YOUNG.

General Frederick Funston is not to be promoted to a major-generalship until he loses a little more hair and comes into the possession of a few more wrinkles. Such is the decree of President Roosevelt, who evidently doesn't believe with Oiler that man deteriorates after his fortieth year. Nor, notwithstanding the records of Alexander, Caesar and Napoleon, does he believe that a soldier is capable of the highest achievements in war while he is able to go without a crutch and read dispatches with the naked eye. Upon what the President bases his judgment he does not say, but it is proper to assume that it is a mature judgment, fortified by the very latest data, for when he promoted his friend General Wood to a major-generalship that gentleman was no older than General Funston is at present. And General Wood had served as a brigadier-general less than three years, whereas General Funston has held that rank seven years. But President Roosevelt had intimate knowledge of the peculiar capabilities of his friend, while of General Funston he knows only what the records of the War Department reveal, for the little man who won the esteem of this community two years ago is a soldier who attends strictly to business and will have nothing to do with politics. In his time General Funston has received great praise for his achievements, but it is the testimony of newspaper men that they gave him what they believed he deserved, and that he first learned of their sentiments when he saw in print what they had written.—Town Talk.

GREAT SCANDAL IN SANTA BARBARA.

Santa Barbara is in the throes of a great social scandal in which is involved one of the most attractive and influential matrons of the smart set. She has hitherto been regarded as a very sweet and devoted wife and tender mother. Such a terrible shock has the whole affair been that the surprised and horrified Santa Barbarians are only just now catching their breaths. The man in the scandal is, horror of horrors, a skating instructor, and full ten years younger than the lady. The couple met some time last winter at the rink, and the society matron being an expert skater, the opportunities for a ripening acquaintance were frequent.

The devotion of the knight of the rollers to his lady love becoming a subject of gossip, it reached the ears of her husband, and led to a somewhat dramatic scene, in which the wife confessed her preference for the agile professor, and asked for a divorce. This request her lawful spouse refused, and after some subsequent scenes of a stormy nature, the lady packed up her belongings and left her domicile, taking a small apartment, not far distant. Meantime, it appears that the knight of the rollers had skipped out, probably thinking that it was conducive to his health to do so. Just as the much concerned friends of the separated husband and wife were in hopes that the unfortunate affair had blown over, and that the young matron would return to her home and to her children, she disappeared. It is said that the amorous professor had sneaked back to town and carried her off.

Not in years has such a frightful episode shocked Southern California society, as the lady is very well known, and her relatives are prominent people, with distinguished connections in San Francisco. Some of her near relatives are closely identified with the exclusive Burlingame set. The affair is rendered all the more lamentable by the fact that the foolish young wife is the mother of beautiful children, to whom she was apparently devoted, as indeed she seemed to be to her husband, till the fascinating professor on rollers appeared to disrupt her marital and social relations.—The Wasp.

AN ASSOCIATE MAYOR.

The Examiner has been publishing the news of the political activities of Private Detective Burns, and according to our voracious contemporary the distinguished gum-shoe artist is including the co-operation of ward politicians by offering to permit them to fill vacancies that are to occur in the municipal commissions. The implication of this news is that Detective Burns has attained to the new and exalted office of assistant mayor, of San Francisco. What his qualifications for this job are we are not informed, but we have no doubt that Burns' employers believe he has the ability to perform the duties and the manner to grace any office in the gift of the people. By this talent for the kind of work most congenial to his nature, which he has exhibited with telling effect, he has won the profound respect and admiration of his employers. The detective bulks very large in their imagination. Unfamiliar as they were until a short time ago with the methods peculiar to the private detective and with the habits, weaknesses and instincts of a certain brand of criminal they have marveled at the success of Burns in playing upon the fears and hopes, the conceit and the ignorance of degraded wretches whose downfall he had planned. The most commonplace tricks, paltry deceptions that have been worn threadbare in the pursuit of rogues and that are as stale as the gold brick swindle or the green goods fraud were to Burns' employers, the ingenious machinations, the exquisitely subtle devices of a stupendous genius with clairvoyant power.

They viewed his operations with all the awe and amazement that the Hindu fakir excites in the unsophisticated tourist who sees him evoke a growing plant from barren soil. The meanness of his stratagems exalted him in their estimation, and let the detective become the boon companion of gentlemen who flatter themselves that they are of refined nature and that they can differentiate that which must be tolerated and endured from that which is grateful and edifying. So it will not surprise us if these hero worshipers have made the detective something more than the Mayor's factotum.—Town Talk.

CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR IN SAN JOSE.

Samuel G. Thompkins has at last been prevailed upon by a petition of several hundred citizens to enter the race for Mayor of the city of San Jose. He is the third candidate in the field, the others being Justice Davison and present Mayor Matthews. Rumor is persistent that Mayor Matthews will ultimately withdraw, leaving a clear fight between Davison and Thompkins.—News Letter.

HENEY VS. FULTON.

Francis J. Heney is carefully avoiding the third Ford trial. Otherwise, during the examination of talesmen he might have learned many wholesome truths from the lips of the talesmen. Mr. Heney has a passion for the limelight. He yearns for the center of the stage. Doubtless it galls him exceedingly to discover that he is a fallen idol in the sight of the people of San Francisco; to realize that the populace for whose favor he catered so zealously is now deriding him. If he can no longer secure it in California he may find it in Oregon. In the midst of two presumably important cases—from the Spreckels prosecution's point of view—Heney hies himself to Oregon to indulge in an orgy of oratory. One of the Spreckels organs is authority for the statement that he addressed 5000 people in Portland last Saturday night and adorned the pulpit of a church in Salem on the Sabbath. His harangues, from these same reports, appear to consist of elaborate apologies for himself and of hurling epithets at Senator Fulton, who mildly retaliates by denouncing Heney as a "har" and a "viper." In the meantime, the Ford trial and the Ruef trial are dragging their weary way without the fulminating presence of the specially imported prosecutor.—News Letter.

HENEY STILL RAVES.

Mr. Heney has been running around Oregon and making speeches which are chiefly denunciatory of the newspapers of San Francisco that do not declare him to be the greatest patriot and lawyer that ever lived. At the end of each speech he electrifies his audience by the declaration, "I will send Ruef to the penitentiary yet." (Hurrah! Hurrah!)

If Mr. Heney had gone at the task of convicting Ruef in a serious fashion the organizer of the graft administration in San Francisco would, in all probability, be now wearing stripes. Any little jack-lawyer could have taken the Ruef case a year ago and convicted the grafting boss in one month. Heney has been at it a year and, at this writing, the jury has not been fully impaneled to try him. The less Mr. Heney says about the Ruef case the better for himself. It only revives in the public mind all the discreditable facts about that midnight meeting in the synagogue when he and District Attorney Langdon met with the friends and representatives of Abe Ruef, Judges Lawlor and Dunne, and Detective Burns and, according to the sworn statement of Rabbi Kaplan and Rabbi Niele, promised Ruef complete immunity, in return for his testimony against the higher-ups.

Mr. Heney has already reached that stage in a public career when newspapers have ceased to pay more than passing attention to his speeches. In a little while they will ignore him altogether. His chief claims to a place in the history of California will then rest upon the fact that he swore a solemn oath that two respectable Jewish clergymen were perjurers, and that they declared with equal emphasis he was not only a liar, but a humbug.—The Wasp.

SENATOR COLE'S MEMOIRS PUBLISHED.

The memoirs of ex-Senator Cornelius Cole have just been issued by an Eastern publishing firm, but only a few copies have as yet reached San Francisco. Mr. Cole was one of the earliest of the California United States Senators and his memories in consequence extend over many interesting years. It seems quite the thing for old-time United States Senators to write their reminiscences nowadays. Senator Stewart of Nevada set the fashion, no doubt.

Cornelius Cole came to San Francisco in pioneer days. The late Mrs. Etta M. Baumgardner, one of the oldest teachers in the public schools here, used to tell her scholars how she and Senator Cole came to California in the same ship. After a long residence in San Francisco, varied by visits to Washington, D. C., Senator Cole went to Southern California with his family. Colegrove was named after him. He had a large family, of whom Schuyler, Willoughby, Emma, Lottie and Grace were best known here. The two older daughters married army officers, I believe.

Mr. Cole's sister married Judge Ethelbert Burke, also a pioneer. All of the Burke family died within a few years of one another, with the exception of the younger daughter, Virginia, who married George Palmer, chief of the art department of the Hearst papers.—The Wasp.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS HODGES.

Announcement of the engagement of Miss Sybil Hodges to Warren Child of Boston is of more than passing interest here, where Miss Hodges made a host of friends some two or three years ago, during her visit to her aunts, Mrs. Willis Davis and Mrs. Van Steklen. Miss Hodges, who is a strikingly pretty girl, made her debut here with her cousin, Miss Edna Davis, and was a great belle. She had many admirers. At one time her engagement to young Leonard Hammond was all but announced, but he married Miss Ruth Merrill, and later Miss Hodges returned to her Eastern home. Mr. Childs, her fiance, is said to be a wealthy society and business man of Boston.—The Wasp.

HURL ROCKS AT STATE POLICE

Strike Sympathizers at Chester, Pa., Jeer Troopers, Who Charge and Scatter
the Crowd.

CHESTER, Pa., April 18.—The State police who have been ordered here to maintain order during the street car strike appear to have the situation well in hand. Here and there occasionally there are small street fights, but nothing approaching a riot has occurred since the troopers took charge of the situation. During the forenoon, did not attempt a general resumption of traffic. Up to 10 o'clock only one car had been sent out and that went over the branch extending to Wilmington, Delaware. The car was guarded by the Delaware State line by the State police. It was not interfered with, but people along the route booed the conductor and motorman.

The sixty or more troopers who camped outside the city last night returned to town early today and were joined by a small crowd near the Edgemont street car barn.

Hurl Missiles at Troopers.
Some of the strike sympathizers hurled rocks and sticks at the troopers, who charged into the crowd and scattered it. No one was hurt.

Mayor Johnson at 6 p. m. gave permission to saloon keepers to open their places, contrary to the advice of Deputy Superintendent Lumb of the State police. In commenting upon Mayor Johnson's action, Lumb said:

"I fear that the more of Mayor Johnson was a great mistake and I fear that unless our orders are obeyed it will be necessary to appeal to Governor Stuart to withdraw the State police. The support of the Chester police is very important."

The State trooper who was shot by a strike sympathizer last night while his troop was passing through the village of Leipsville, near here, was removed to a hospital in this city today. The two men implicated in the shooting have been committed to the county jail, at Media, without bail.

Otis L. Swett Wants to Win
Wife Again.

Otis L. Swett, who is being sued for divorce, does not want to be separated from his wife and thinks he can bring about a reconciliation. With this object in mind Swett asked Superior Judge Harris to continue for a week his wife's motion for alimony and counsel fees, and it was so ordered.

Mrs. Swett is a telegraph operator in the employ of the Southern Pacific Company at the Oakland mole.

She accuses her husband of cruelty. Once while they were living at San Rafael, she says, her husband took one of his former wives there and conversed with her several times over the telephone. She says her husband told her he intended to have as many lady friends as he desired, and she alleges that on several occasions he threatened to kill her unless she signed a deed giving to him the property they owned at Long Beach and San Rafael, and to save her life she did so.

"I don't want my wife to get a divorce," said Swett in court yesterday. "She has been influenced to bring this action and make these charges by outside parties. I want her to come back and live with me."

Annie W. L. Kaiser commenced suit to secure a divorce from Antonio F. Kaiser, who she alleges has failed to provide her with the common necessities of life. Reinhold A. Frey was given an interlocutory decree of divorce from his wife, Margaret, who threatened to kill him. They were married at Dallas and lived together one month. Marie Mortense was given a final decree of divorce from Frank E. Doach, the allegation in the complaint being failure to provide. They formerly lived at Berkeley, and Doach at one time owned a tannery in Los Angeles.

GREAT MUSIC AT MACDONOUGH

Chicago Symphony Orchestra
Plays at Local Theater
Tonight.

The Chicago Symphony Orchestra, which appears at the Macdonough tonight, was organized by Charles Beech in 1892. Adolf Rondelet was chosen conductor. Sixty concerts were given the first season, the orchestra visiting many important cities, including St. Louis, Cincinnati, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Detroit, Louisville, Nashville and Memphis. The following season the names of the country were visited and an equal number of concerts given. In the spring of 1901 a festival tour was made, the orchestra being accompanied by a number of eminent soloists, and so successful were these festivals, at both artistically and financially, that each season since tours have been made, extending from Montreal, Canada, to San Antonio, Texas.

Musical Comedy.

McIntyre and Heath, the greatest and most humorous impersonators of negro character on the stage, will be at the Macdonough April 20, 21 and 22, with a special matinee Wednesday, in the new musical comedy called "The Ham Tree," presented by Klaw & Erlanger. These clever comedians have played their debut in "The Ham Tree" at the New York Theater in August, 1905, where they ran for several weeks to the largest attendance in the history of that theater. After this engagement they played long runs in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Boston, New Orleans, San Francisco, etc., repeating their New York success. Then followed a tour of other cities, where their performance gave immense satisfaction. They returned to the New York Theater July 30, and from the opening night till the close the house was packed.

The book of "The Ham Tree" is by George V. Hobart, the author of the famous "John Henry" stories; the lyrics are by William Jerome, and the music by Jean Schwartz, the principal of McIntyre and Heath's support are Jennie Towler, Carolyn Gordon, Belle Gold and Alfred Fisher. The ensembles include the most beautiful chorus of singing and dancing girls ever presented in a musical play.

FAIR CALIFORNIAN TALKS OF NOTED DIVORCE

Lillie Lawler, Formerly of Oakland, Defends Mrs. Hart McKee Against Husband.

Miss Lillian Lawler, a former Oaklander and long time a resident at the Galindo Hotel in this city, has just given out a statement in Paris concerning her connection with the Hart McKee divorce case. Miss Lawler, who is a close friend of Mrs. Hart McKee, defends that lady and says McKee is still desperately in love with his wife. Miss Lawler adds that there is not a word of truth in the story manufactured by McKee and Labori against her.

NEW YORK, April 18.—Lillie Lawler, the California woman who is one of the central figures in the suit for divorce brought in Paris by Mrs. Cornelia Baxter-Tevis-McKee, against her husband, A. Hart McKee of Pittsburg, has just given out a statement on the celebrated case.

Miss Lawler's name was mentioned in the French courts two days ago, when Maitre Labori, McKee's lawyer, declared that letters she had written contained important evidence.

Miss Lawler emphatically defends her friend and companion, Mrs. McKee. She denies that the former wife of Hugh Tevis of San Francisco has gambled away a fortune in high play at Monte Carlo. Likewise, she asserts that there is no other man in whom Mrs. McKee is sufficiently interested to prompt the present proceedings.

Story False, She Says.

"Hart McKee is still desperately in love with his pretty wife," she said, "and is using desperate means to prevent her from securing a divorce. There is not one word of truth in the terrible story manufactured by McKee and Labori in their efforts to thwart her suit."

"I do not care to make public," she added, "any opinion I may have of a man who will resort to such tactics in a controversy with a woman; besides, it is not necessary—Hart McKee is too well known in this country."

Miss Lawler, who is wealthy, spends a large part of her time in Paris. She is now occupying apartments in the fashionable Studio building. At the last hearing of the divorce suit, Maitre Labori charged that a letter Miss Lawler had written to Signor Allotti, the Italian charge d'affaires, urging him to send the Marquis Guglielmo to her immediately was stolen from Hart McKee's suite in the Hotel Castiglione, March 23. The defense hoped to prove by this that Guglielmo was an ardent admirer of Mrs. McKee.

FAMOUS LONDON DANSEUSE PROVES DURRANT'S SISTER

Struggle of Thirteen Years Ends in Triumph

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—Maud Durrant, sister of Theodore Durrant, murderer of Blanche Lamont, and Minnie Williams, has captured London by her dancing at the Palace Theatre. She has borne the name of Maud Allen and mystery has clothed her identity but it has now been learned that she is none other than Maud Durrant.

The discovery of the famous danseuse's identity was made through a letter Miss Durrant wrote to a girl friend who attended Polytechnic School with her in San Francisco. When last known in San Francisco, Maud Durrant was connected with all the horrors of her brother's awful deed. Thirteen years ago she was one in a tragedy of gloom, sorrow and death. Today she is before the world as a magnificent creature, life and beauty, a bewitching impersonation of joyousness and youth. In those thirteen years she has broken from the dreadful past, and under the name of Maud Allen, danseuse at the Palace Theatre in London, is recognized as the rival of Genee and the latest London craze.

Brother Hanged.

Theodore Durrant, her brother, was hanged for the murder of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, whose bodies were found in the Emmanuel Baptist Church thirteen years ago. That of Minnie Williams was in a closet, and the other in the church belfry. As both were young girls, and as the murderer was palpably a degenerate, the utmost indignation was aroused. Theodore Durrant, who attended the same church as did the murdered girls, was arrested, and after a trial replete with sensational trial the death penalty.

His sister was then in Europe studying music and singing. Inasmuch as her parents were poor, her father bought her a new dress.
